MORE FLU VICTIMS IN ITALIAN

HARDING TELLS FARMERS THAT HE'LL AID THEM

Opens Conference of 300 Delegates.

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—With "dirt" farmers blunty itemizing their financial distress and President Harding proposing far-reaching measures of government assistance, the 300 delegates to the agricultural conference, called by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, today began consideration of comprehensive plans to organize agriculture on the same basis of economic advantage as industry and commerce.

PRESIDENT HARDING.

The conclusions of this conference will constitute the basis for a drive by the administration for legislation not only to relieve the farmer of distress in the present emergency, due to economic readjustment, but to stabilize agriculture permanently on a foundation promising greater remuneration to producers and lower prices to consumers.

Harding Opens Conference. President Harding, in opening the conference, dwelt on the disadvantage of agriculture, compared with industry and commerce, in commanding adequate financial facilities, pointing out that while the federal farm loan board supplies capital for plant investment at moderate interest rates, it does not furnish working capital.

Secretary Wallace suggested that constructive effort should be made in three fields, that of legislative action, that of administrative and educational action, national and state, and that of action by farm organizations. He then introduced Representative Anderson (Illinois) as chairman of the conference.

Mr. Anderson made a plea for the organization by the farmers of output control, asserting that price declines have been least in commodities controlled by highly organized industries, of which the dairy industry is an example.

JAPAN OPENS BIG DRIVE TO CUT ITS ARMY

3 Parties in Diet Back U. S. Parley.

By RODERICK MATHESON.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] (Copyright, 1922, by The Chicago Tribune.)

TOKIO, Jan. 23.—The opening of the Japanese diet was signaled by the circulation of thousands of pamphlets in Tokyo urging drastic army reductions and advertising a series of mass meetings to advocate the elimination of a number of divisions and the reduction of the conscription term.

All three of the main political parties of Japan have gone on record as favoring the reduction of the army.

The leaders of the Seiyukai party in the diet Saturday offered a resolution stating that the conference had been a success to Japan and all the other participants.

The Kenseikai, main opposition party, praised President Harding's move, but severely criticized the action of the Japanese delegates, Baron Kato particularly.

Viscount Kato, referring to the naval ratio, said that Baron Kato either had attempted to deceive the conference by saying that 70 per cent was the minimum required for national defense, or he had finally accepted a ratio below the minimum, thereby betraying the country.

The Kokumintō party urges not only naval disarmament but a reduction of the army divisions to the lowest minimum.

Assurance of Peace.

Foreign Minister Uchida in his opening speech said that Great Britain had first suggested the Pacific conference, which was accepted by Japan before President Harding's invitation.

While regretting the termination of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, concerning the Pacific entente, he said:

"It is a clear index of the progress of the times and can be taken as a manifestation of the spirit of international good will on an enlarged scale. Therefore, I consider it a matter of profound gratification to the Japanese government."

DENY ANY SELFISH PLAN

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Japan made a complete and categorical disclaimer of any selfish designs toward Russia today when the far east committee of the Washington conference reached the subject of Siberia, the last on the conference agenda.

Siberia was taken up at the suggestion of Mr. Hughes after a report of the expert committee on Chinese railways had been referred to a subcommittee headed by Mr. Root.

American delegates do not see how Japan could have expressed more strongly her determination not to set up spheres of special influence in Russia than in the concluding words of Baron Shidehara's statement to the committee following his complete explanation for the present retention of Japanese troops in Siberia. These words were the following:

"Nothing is further from the thought of the Japanese government than to take advantage of the present helplessness condition of Russia to prosecute selfish designs."

"The military occupation of the Russian province of Sakhalin is only a temporary measure."

"In conclusion, the Japanese delegation is authorized to declare that it is the fixed and settled policy of Japan to respect the territorial integrity of Russia, and to observe the principle of nonintervention in the internal affairs of that country."

THEY HAVE AN ADVANTAGE OVER HIM

DOCTOR ENDS HIS LIFE WHEN WIFE GETS CHILDREN

Dr. Ernest Algoth, 5412 North Clark street, committed suicide yesterday because, friends say, the law had deprived him of his children.

Since August he had been separated from Mrs. Algoth, who had filed suit for divorce, charging habitual drunkenness. With the two children—Virginia, 13, and Maria, 8—she has been living at 625 Barry avenue.

"I am going to end my life," Dr. Algoth a week ago told Robert Ewing of 4000 Clarendon avenue, according to the police. "I can't endure to be away from my kiddies."

Yesterday Dr. E. W. Sandquist, a dentist who occupies the suite adjoining that of Dr. Algoth, noticed a light in his office. The door was locked. He had not seen Dr. Algoth all day.

Then he learned that Dr. Algoth had not returned to his apartment at 5513 North Clark street since answering a call early in the morning. He notified the Summerdale station. Sergts. Harry Schuler and Thomas Lamsie forced the door. Dr. Algoth was sitting in his office chair. He had been dead some hours.

MAN BURNED TO DEATH IN HOME, POLICE REPORT

Hugo Demes was burned to death as he slept early this morning in a fire that destroyed the three-story frame building at 431 Sullivan street, according to police reports. Six children were rescued by their parents. Lieut. Thomas Duffy and Sergts. William Beehan and Richard Ruff made daring attempts to save Demes, but were driven back by the flames.

Harry O. Wagner, owner of the building, who resided on the second floor with his wife, Mabel, and four children, and Harry Keeler, who also resided on the second floor with his two children, escaped.

Wagner said he was certain Demes was in his room sleeping when the fire started.

$100,000 REWARD FOR CANCER CURE IN NEXT 5 YEARS

Montreal, Que., Jan. 23.—An offer of $100,000 "to the graduate or student of any recognized university who, within five years after date, is the first to discover a medicinal treatment for the effective cure of cancer" was made today by Lord Atholstan, proprietor of the Montreal Star. It was contained in a letter to Sir Arthur Currie, principal of McGill university.

RADIO TO CARRY RESUME OF NEWS

Thousands of people hereabouts and farther afield last night listened to the reading of news bulletins by radio—the premiere of the Westinghouse-Chicago Tribune Radio News Service.

It is well known that since last November, when Chicago's opera season began, the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, from its sending station atop the Commonwealth Edison building, has faithfully transmitted every opera given, to the enjoyment and satisfaction of those who possessed a receiving set.

Give Nightly Musical. It has been made possible to bring to the home, the hospitals, the rural districts, the highest class of entertainment. It is estimated that today there are more than a million people who from time to time get their entertainment by means of the radio.

And so this new departure. The opera season, now closed, is to be followed by a musical program each evening, consisting of talent furnished by well known artists. The programs are arranged under the direction of Morgan L. Eastman.

New Digest Follows. This musical program begins at 8 p. m. and continues for one hour. Following this a summarized digest of the news of the day is furnished by THE TRIBUNE, including a brief résumé of the markets.

The radiophone concert of tonight will be presented by Elsie Harthan Arendt, soprano; L. B. Canterbury, tenor, and Adalbert Huguette, pianist.

53 FIRE ALARMS FOLLOW IN WAKE OF COLD WAVE

With a temperature of 4 degrees above zero at midnight, Chicago last night had a record evening in fire alarms, fifty-three barks being pulled between 5 and 12 o'clock.

Scores of calls for assistance from needy persons came into the office of County Agent William H. Ehemann yesterday. At the main office, 1966 Polk street, there were at one time more than fifty lined up waiting for coal tickets. The greater demand was for shoes. Four thousand pairs have already been distributed since Jan. 1.

Reports of twenty-two cold flats were received in one hour yesterday afternoon by the sanitary bureau of the health department. Two exposure cases were reported by the police.

Mrs. Braun's 'nth' of Love Wins a Home

On the tenth day after marriage, it appeared yesterday in Judge McDonald's court, a woman's "nth" power.

This discovery came when Mrs. Vesta McFarrich Braun, who so valiantly defended her homestead rights by barricading herself against her husband's detectives for two nights in a third floor bedroom at 1221 Astor street, won a complete legal victory in the Superior court.

Judge McDonald awarded her temporary possession of the premises after she had taken the witness stand in her own behalf.

The court issued an injunction restraining her husband, George P. Braun, from completing the sale of the property to Fred W. Upham and his wife, Helen Hall Upham, and from picketing the premises with private detectives or in any other way molesting her.

Zenith of Woman's Trust. That a woman's trust in her husband reaches the "nth" power on the tenth day after marriage developed during the argument of counsel over the validity of a power of attorney given by Mrs. Braun to her husband on March 26, 1908, ten days after their marriage, and just before they departed on a fourteen months' honeymoon in Europe.

"I do not even remember when or where I signed that paper or even the reason for signing it," Mrs. Braun testified. "I was very young then."

"How old were you?" asked her attorney, Perry S. Patterson.

"Just 19."

Document Antedates House. Mr. Patterson brought out the fact that the Astor street house was not built until four years after the power of attorney had been signed, whereas the legal phraseology of the document was in the present tense.

Attorney Patterson called the court's attention to the fact that Mr. Braun had used this power of attorney as authority for signing his wife's name against her wishes to the warranty deed transferring the property to the Uphams.

"Mrs. Braun was a mere girl when she signed this," he said. "Without casting reflection upon her intelligence, I doubt if she would have understood its rolling, and involved phrases, even if she had read it. If ever a woman's sanity relationship with her husband is at its height, it is ever her trust in him is at what might be termed the nth power, it is about ten days after marriage."

"That is the zenith, is it?" interrupted Attorney Hart.

"Yes," retorted Attorney Patterson, and Mrs. Braun giggled.

Attorney Hart maintained that the power of attorney could only be revoked by the signing of a document equally as long. Judge McDonald took the stand that Mrs. Braun's refusal by telephone to sign the deed constituted a revocation.

Leaving Husband, Not Home. "This whole matter is a move to embarrass the transaction and to lay the groundwork for a damage suit by Mr. Upham," Attorney Hart blurted.

"I do not believe so," Judge McDonald returned. "I do not think there was any evidence presented here tending to show that Mrs. Braun intended to abandon her homestead. It was her husband and not the house she was leaving. I grant the relief prayed for."

"Does this mean, your honor, that she can hold possession of that part of the house she was holding at the time this bill was filed?" asked Attorney Hart, referring to the third floor rooms in which she had barricaded herself. Mr. Braun had all of the furniture removed from the two lower floors and placed in storage.

"It means," returned the court, "that she can have possession of the whole house and that she can move anything in or out commensurate with her comfort. It means that no detectives will be permitted to prevent the delivery of fuel, the building of a fire, or any other act necessary for the comfort of Mrs. Braun and her children."

Braun Denies Wife's Charges. Attorney Hart filed an answer to Mrs. Braun's suit for separate maintenance in which Mr. Braun denies the charge of habitual intoxication. The bill places his property at $200,000 and his annual income at between $6,000 and $7,000.

Mrs. Braun, dressed entirely in black, laughed several times during her recital of the "siege" at the Astor street house. She described how she had gained entrance by following a locksmith through a window because the back door had been nailed up. She testified she was compelled to abandon the house because of her husband's intoxication but admitted on cross-examination she had not seen him take a drink for thirty days previous to their separation.

"But he was more disagreeable than ever before," she said. "He was doing other things."

PAPAL GUARDS DIE; NEPHEW OF BENEDICT ILL

Begin Vote on New Pope on Feb. 2.

BULLETIN.

ROME, Jan. 23.—The influenza epidemic to which Pope Benedict has fallen a victim has attacked a number of other members of the papal household.

It is believed the pope's nephew, Marquis Della Chiesa, caught the highly infectious disease from the pontiff, and his nightly visits to the Vatican weakened him. Countess Persico, Benedict's sister, is ill of influenza at Venice, and the news of his death has resulted in a turn for the worse.

More than one of the papal guards has died of influenza in the last ten days, and it is believed probable the pope contracted it from a member of his own staff. Dr. Battistini has thoroughly disinfected the Vatican and has sent all suspicious cases to the hospital of St. Martha, which is on holy see territory.

ROME, Jan. 23.—[By the Associated Press.]—Cardinals Maffi, La Fontaine, and Ratti of Pisa, Venice and Milan, respectively, are the most prominently mentioned in Vatican circles today as the most likely candidates for the position as successor to Pope Benedict.

In these circles, Cardinal Maffi, known as Italy's "war cardinal," apparently is a pronounced favorite, even of these three prelates. The Italian government announces today that the Italian government was backing the candidacy of Cardinal Maffi.

The meeting of the sacred college in conclave to elect a successor to the late Pope Benedict will open Feb. 2, it was announced today.

While all the cardinals resident in Europe are expected to reach Rome in time for the conclave, it is considered extremely doubtful whether the American cardinals—O'Connor and Dougherty—will find it possible to be present, at least for the opening of the session, as the date set is barely ten days away.

The same is true of Cardinal Begin of Canada and Cardinal De Albuquerque Cavalotti of Brazil. Thus it is expected that not more than fifty-five members of the sacred college will be able to arrive in time to vote for a new pope. A two-thirds majority is necessary for an election.

All Italy Likes Maffi. In addition to the high favor which he enjoys in Vatican circles, Cardinal Maffi of Pisa is very popular throughout Italy. He became known as the "war cardinal" on account of his unswerving policy toward the energetic conduct of the war to a finish. The Italians refer to him as "our Cardinal Mercier."

Cardinal Laurenti, one of the most recently created cardinals, who for the present is stationed in Rome, also is a great favorite in some quarters. He is one of the youngest of the cardinals, and was the last man to kiss the pope alive.

The sentiment expressed in Vatican circles so far is, of course, exclusively that of the Italian cardinals, since no foreign cardinal has yet reached Rome. The Italian prelates, however, number thirty-one members out of the sixty-one composing the sacred college, and all the Italians now have reached Rome except Cardinal Prisco of Naples, who may not be able to attend the conclave owing to his advanced age and feeble state of health.

Pope's Funeral Tomorrow. The interment of Benedict XV. has been tentatively fixed for Wednesday afternoon. The body will lie in state in the basilica of St. Peter's only a day and a half more, according to the present plans. Benedict's wish not to have his body embalmed necessitates departure from the custom that the pope's body lie in state for three days.

Final decision will be taken on this question Wednesday morning, but the present view of the Vatican is that it will be impossible to keep the body exposed beyond Wednesday afternoon. The statement also was made tonight, but not officially, that the coffin would be closed within a few hours, and that thus the usual ceremony of worshippers filing past kissing the uncovered foot of the dead pope would be eliminated.

Vast throngs passed reverently before the catafalque in St. Peter's today, to which the pope's body was taken this morning from the throne-room of the Vatican.

The body was robed in white, with stole and chasuble of red, embroidered with gold. The head, wearing the pontifical mitre, reposed upon cushions of red and gold velvet. The hands, wearing the pontifical gloves of purple silk and holding the rosary, were clasped over the breast.

The body as it was solemnly brought into St. Peter's was borne upon a red covered bier by ushers clad in medieval costumes of scarlet. The procession was headed by the gendarmes of the Vatican, the pontifical police, with their elaborate uniforms of blue and white, walking with drawn swords, and the Palestine guards in dark blue uniforms and plumes of black feathers standing erect.

Carry Bier on Shoulders.

The bier was held shoulder high by the scarlet clad ushers. The sacred college followed, headed by the dean, Cardinal Vannutelli. Each cardinal took his position according to his rank. Cardinal Gasparri walked a considerable distance behind the dean, although occupying the post of camerlengo, or head of the Roman church during the interregnum.

Of the cardinals who followed in the procession Cardinal Gasparri alone was dressed in full black. Cardinals Fruchetti and Boglietti stood out in the distinction of their white dominican robes, while the remainder of the cardinals wore the red of their rank. All moved with bowed heads, reciting their prayer, and proceeding at a slow pace, their faces grave with the solemnity of the occasion.

Diplomatic Corps Wears Black.

Guards flanked the members of the sacred college. Then came the members of the diplomatic corps, in black mourning attire. The bishops and monsignori, numbering some 200, fell in behind, closing the long and solemn file.

Passing from the throne room to the hall of Clementine, the cortege entered the loggia, and proceeded down the Scala Regia to the first floor, then along the loggia of Raphael to the pope's robing room for religious ceremonies, passing through the very corridor where it is thought his holiness caught the cold which resulted in his death. The procession then passed through the Sala Ducale to the stairs of Constantine, and thence along to the entrance to St. Peter's and into the massive edifice.

On entering the main door of St. Peter's the funeral party was received by the clergy of the great basilica, who escorted the cortege down the main central aisle to a position in the center of the church just opposite the statue of St. Peter. There absolute took place. The bier was then raised aloft and was passed into the chapel of the holy sacrament, where the public can view the body through the immense iron gates.

Troops Find Little to Do.

Long before it was announced that the body of the late pontiff could be viewed by the public, large crowds had gathered in front of St. Peter's, awaiting an opportunity to take a last look at the holy father. Overcast skies, a light rain, and a chilling atmosphere apparently had not dampened the ardor of the visitors, who came on foot, in carriages, street cars, omnibuses, and automobiles. Several thousand troops, made up of carabinieri, infantry, and royal guards, lined the entrance to the great shrine to facilitate the movement of the multitude and to preserve order.

The certificate of Pope Benedict's death was registered at the city's bureau of deaths today. It reads:

"The undersigned physician hereby states that at 6 o'clock a. m., Jan. 22, his holiness, Pope Benedict XV., Giacomo Della Chiesa, expired following an attack of broncho-pneumonia brought on by influenza.

[Signed] "Dr. RAFFAELLE BATTISTINI."

The certificate of the pope's death will be entered in the records of the capital at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning in virtually the same manner as for all Roman citizens. In view, however, of the late pope's high rank, the mayor himself will make the entry. The legal adviser of the Vatican will be present, and the witnesses will be Prince Colonna, assistant to the pontifical throne, Marquis Sacchetti, grand equerry; Prince Massimo, vatican minister of posts, and Prince Ambrandini, commander of the noble guard.

1922 OPERA TO AWAIT FINANCES, INSULL ASSERTS

"Will Sign No Stars Till Pledges Are In."

"Not one contract with an artist for next year has been signed and none will be signed until the guarantee for the next five years is raised," declared Samuel Insull, president of the new Civic Opera Association of Chicago, at the annual meeting of the Friends of the Opera at the Arts Club yesterday afternoon.

He also stated that no individual, neither the general director nor the business manager, would have the power to sign contracts; they will be signed by him as chairman of the finance committee, and by one other member of the committee, which is composed of Stanley Field, John J. Mitchell, John G. Shedd, and L. B. Koppelman.

Those who had hoped to hear Mr. Insull give the "inside" of the recent squabbles in the company, were disappointed, for he stated emphatically that he would take no part in the recent controversy, which had received so much publicity in the daily press.

He also stated the curiosity of his audience by adding that if he cared to enter into the controversy he could tell much of the effects of high salaries artists having brainstorms.

FRENCH STAND ON NAVY EXPLAINED BY ADMIRAL HERE

Admiral de Bon, French naval representative at the arms conference in Washington.

If France reduced her sea power she could not adequately protect herself and her colonies from menaces which might threaten her "suddenly and immediately, as they are so close," was the keynote of an address given yesterday at the City Club by Admiral de Bon, French naval representative at the arms conference in Washington.

Admiral de Bon, in an appeal to the American people, followed the line of argument adopted by former Premier Briand in explaining the position of his country at the opening of the arms conference.

"France does not like war, and of the nations engaged she suffered most by the war," he said. "We realized the Washington conference would point to the best basis upon which to establish future peace, and welcomed it."

But France, as a measure of self-protection, must not reduce her present fleet, he said. It must be remembered that France has miles of her own coast to protect, as well as her extensive colonial possessions. With her naval resources now far below what they were at the beginning of the war it should be realized that further reduction is impossible.

The admiral returned to Washington last night.

CHICAGO OPERA OPENS HOARSELY, N. Y. CRITIC SAYS

Muratore Alone Pleases Gothamites.

BY JAMES WHITTAKER.

New York, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The Chicago Opera company at the close of the present brief season will quit New York, never to return, Mary Garden, director, said today.

The enthusiasm for opera in Chicago and in the west has given the opera company a field sufficient in itself and it has no need to come to New York any more, she explained.

Miss Garden said that she would continue at the head of the company. Talk of dissension and trouble, she said, was all based on trivialities. She discussed her stars in a kindly tone.

Denies Polacco Rumor.

Here's what she said, in brief:

"Mr. Polacco is a great, great conductor. I have no trouble with him. I have no trouble with anybody—not even with Mr. Muratore. The only time that I have the pleasure of looking on his face is when I am on the stage with him."

"I should be perfectly delighted to have Miss Farrar, if she cares to come," she replied when asked if Geraldine Farrar was likely to join the Chicago Opera company on tour. "The doors will be open wide for her. If she wants to startle us in Chicago with 'Zaza' she may come, you bet."

Miss Garden added that since 1911 Harold F. McCormick and Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick had paid into the Chicago company $3,246,000.

PRESIDENT FOR, HUGHES AGAINST, U. S. AT GENOA

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Senators who do not favor American participation in the Genoa conference until the heavy armament budget of France is reduced and conditions change in Russia are quoting Secretary Hughes as opposed to sending a representative to the conference until sound economic conditions exist in continental Europe.

According to these senators, Secretary Hughes is strongly against participation at present, and so stated his views at a White House conference of Republican senators Jan. 8.

President Harding, according to the report, declined to express his own views and summoned Secretary Hughes and Senator Lodge. The entire economic situation in Europe was discussed. The President, it is said, made no positive statements of views, although the report has it that the trend of his questions gave his hearers the impression that he desired to see the United States represented.

It was Secretary Hughes, senators assert, who stated his views most strongly, insisting America stay out of the conference until France reduces her army to a peace basis and balances her budget and Russia discharges her Red army and gives assurance of ability to maintain a stable government.

CHURCH OF ROME AND OF RUSSIA MAY BE UNITED

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—Some understanding between the Catholic church of Rome and the Orthodox church of Russia may be one of the acts of the next pope.

Benedict XV., entering into negotiations with Lenin, succeeded in obtaining the liberation of the Archbishop of Mohilev, Mgr. Edward De Ropp, 70, imprisoned by the bolsheviks. Once the ice broken, Benedict XV. continued to negotiate for the release of the Russian and Polish ecclesiastics held in captivity.

The difficulties reached a climax under Plus IX., when Baron Meyendorff, Russian ambassador, having said in a private audience with the pope that all the catholic bishops in Poland were a set of traitors and conspirators, was shown the door of the papal apartment. According to popular reports at the time, probably much exaggerated, the pope was said to have helped the ambassador to leave his room at the point of his "holy slippers."

No Expensive Fads.

He urged the Friends of Opera to work with might and main to help secure the necessary guarantors within the next sixty days, and assured them that in the future the opera would be run on a strict budget system with no expensive fads.

He referred to a meeting that he had last week with the executive committee of the Fogos, the "Friends" nickname, in which the members deplored the lack of recognition which they feel has been accorded the organization by the directors of the opera company, and he replied that the Fogos have been given between one-quarter and one-half a million dollars' worth of recognition.

Evidently the executive committee has a desire to have a hand in spending the money of the company, for he said that he doubted that the board of directors would give the Friends of Opera any authority to do this.

Mrs. Arthur Ryerson presided at the meeting until the election of new officers, when the new chairman, Mrs. Arthur Meeker, took the chair.

Mrs. McCormick's Ideas.

After Mr. Insull's talk Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, honorary chairman, stated that she wanted to make it clear that if Chicago lost the present company it would mean having an inferior and provincial company from New York rather than having no opera. She declared that New York had been working for the failure of the Chicago opera, and would be greatly pleased if Chicago failed to guarantee opera for the next five years.

Mrs. Jacob Baur, chairman of the membership and guarantors' committee, reported that 249 new mem-

BRITISH JOYFUL AS IRISH TAKE UP OWN BURDEN

Glad to "Wash Hands" of Age Old Dispute.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, Jan. 23.—Now that Michael Collins and Sir James Craig have agreed to Ireland, the center of interest in the Irish negotiations has shifted to the north. The next move is a meeting between Collins and Craig in Ireland, at which they will work out a plan for a union of north and south Ireland, to take the place of the council of Ireland provided for in the home rule act of 1920, which is equally distasteful to Ulster and the Free State. The plan favored is for some sort of a joint committee, reporting to the two governments, to discuss matters of common services, such as the railroads, postoffice, and health insurance, but this is looked on merely as a stop gap until the final fusion of the two Irelands, which is now regarded as eventual.

Lloyd George Delighted.
Prime Minister Lloyd George said he was highly delighted at the outcome of the London meeting. His ambition has been to bring about a situation whereby England can wash its hands of Irish politics, leaving Irish affairs to be settled by Irishmen in Ireland. A high official told me today that he feels that this has been accomplished, and even if Irishmen do not agree, England is to have none of the international odium of governing.

"The experiment of bringing two honest and businesslike Irishmen together has succeeded," said the official. "They understood each other better than we ever could understand either, and in a few minutes' talk reached an agreement."

Sees Trouble for Craig.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] BELFAST, Jan. 23.—Capt. Craig, M. P., a brother of Sir James Craig, speaking today to the Antrim unionists in Belfast, said he knew many of the Ulster people would be angry with Sir James over the agreement with Michael Collins, but by the side they had better make the best of it. He said it was utterly impossible to live as if each were surrounded by a high wall and had nothing to do with the outside world. The meeting pledged support to Sir James.

Plan World Irish League.
PARIS, Jan. 23.—[By the Associated Press.]—At the world Irish congress to be held in Valencia, former president of the Gaelic League, invited Irishmen in foreign countries to endow professorships in universities and create scholarships for children of the Irish race to complete their education in Ireland.

The idea of Mr. de Valera and other leaders is to make use of the existing Irish organization in every country to form a world league through which to work for the spread of Irish culture.

CRUISER WITH OIL SAVES SHIP CREW
IN TORNADO SEA

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
SYDNEY, Jan. 23.—The cruiser Melbourne rescued the crew of the four masted schooner Helen B. Sterling at 10 o'clock this morning under the most dramatic circumstances. The schooner had sent out wireless messages advising the crew of the sinking sailing vessel to be of good heart, as it was certain they would be found. When the Melbourne located the Sterling it was dark and a terrible sea was raging. The rescuers poured oil on the sea to subside the waves and then launched boats.

SOVIETS TO BILL U. S. AND EUROPE FOR TRILLIONS

MOSCOW, Jan. 23.—[By the Associated Press.]—Bolshevik delegates to the Genoa conference will present reparations claims there against various European powers and the United States. If these claims are made in terms of bolshevik rubles, new names for large amounts may be necessary, as the bolshevik ruble is valued at one-tenth of a dollar.

The Versailles conference mustered no such brigades of experts as the Moscow government called into service months ago, and has been training for the Communist attack upon capitalist fortresses at Genoa. Every possible branch of political, social, historical, and economic expert has been drafted, and Russia has a variety of them which has never been dreamed of by the western world.

Reams of documents will be presented to show the responsibility of the great powers for the damage suffered by Russia as a result of the Czechoslovak advance in Siberia, Admiral Kolchak's ill-fated movement, the Archangel expedition, Gen. Denikin's sweep northward from the Caucasus, General Baron Wrangel's Crimean expedition, Gen. Yudenitch's nascent in the Baltic states and Simon Petliura's activities in Ukraine.

BERLIN PAPERS COLD TO WIDOW OF T. ROOSEVELT

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, the widow of the late President Roosevelt, arrived in Berlin today accompanied by her son Archibald. It is said the purpose of the visit is to look after the interests of the steamship line in which Mrs. Roosevelt's son, Kermit, is interested. All the newspapers are taking an unkindly attitude to the visit of the Roosevelts. The Noon Gazette states that "Mrs. Roosevelt was possessed of wilder views on Germany than her husband, but that Germany seems to appeal to her now, perhaps on account of the exchange rate."

Young Man Falls Into Gasoline Car; Drowns

Henry Peterson, 17 years old, 2451 West 71st street, employed by the Westwood Oil company, West 70th street and South Western avenue, was drowned yesterday in an oil tank car in the city pipe yards, West 75th street and South Western avenue. He lost his balance and fell into the car, filled with gasoline.

LAKES-ATLANTIC CANAL INDORSED BY PRESIDENT

Feasibility Unquestioned,
Harding Says.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—President Harding today gave his unqualified indorsement to the great lakes to the Atlantic deep waterway project, recommended last week by the international joint commission. Speaking before the agricultural conference, Mr. Harding said:

"I have spoken of the advantage which Europe enjoys because of its access to the sea, the cheapest and surest transportation facility. In our own country is presented one of the world's most attractive opportunities for extension of the seaways many hundred miles inland. The heart of the continent, with its vast resources in both agriculture and industry, would be brought in communication with all the ocean routes by the execution of the St. Lawrence waterway project."

Feasibility Unquestioned.
"To enable ocean going vessels to have access to all the ports of the great lakes would have a most stimulating effect upon the industrial life of the continent's interior. The feasibility of the project is unquestioned, and its cost, compared with some other great engineering works, would be small. Disorganized and prostrate, the nations of central Europe are even now setting their hands to the development of a great continental waterway which, connecting the Rhine and Danube, will bring water transportation from the Black sea to the North sea, from Mediterranean to Baltic."

"If nationalist prejudices and economic difficulties can be overcome by Europe, they certainly should not be formidable obstacles to an achievement less expensive and giving promise of greater advantages to the peoples of North America. Not only would the cost of transportation be greatly reduced but a vast population would be brought overnight in immediate touch with the markets of the entire world."

East Fights Plan in Congress.
Notwithstanding President Harding's approval of the project, the opposition, led by Representative Dempsey of New York, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, appeared to be full of fight. Dempsey gave notice that he would appeal to the house tomorrow to reverse Speaker Gillett's decision referring the international joint commission's report to the interstate and foreign commerce committee.

FARMER SEIZED; MADE WIFE, ILL, FAST FOR 51 DAYS

Madison, Ind., Jan. 23.—William Roche, 51, farmer, was arrested today, charged with neglect and failure to provide food for his wife, who, under his direction is said by officials to have fasted, fifty-one days in an attempt to cure rheumatism and stomach trouble. When found she was in a serious condition and partially blind. Her only sustenance during the fast, officials said, was water and lemon juice. Her loss of weight was twenty-eight pounds.

Roche, who is said to be a student of physical culture and fasting, when arrested said he made the mistake at first of giving his wife orange juice.

Bandit Victim, Reaching for Gun, Shot 7 Times

Hammond, Ind., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Because he turned around presuming to get a gun when confronted by a masked bandit and ordered to throw up his hands, Leon Sullivan, a coffee house proprietor, was shot seven times this morning. He was removed to a Chicago hospital. The bandit fled after the shooting.

THEIR SHIP COMES IN

GENEVIEVE, ROBERT W. AND CHARLES G. SIMPSON.

The eight year struggle of Mrs. Genevieve Simpson for the fortune left her three children by their grandfather, Robert Simpson, 1513 Sheridan road, Evanston, was crowned with success yesterday when Judge Frank Johnson Sr. in the Circuit court ruled that the will of the grandfather should be admitted to probate.

"Aren't you happy, mamma?" 8 year old Genevieve exclaimed, hugging her mother, while her two brothers, Robert, 13, and Charles, 11, danced in the courtroom and threw their shabby caps in the air to express their delight.

"Now we'll have an automobile and servants to do the washing and cook the meals—and candy and dolls and everything."

The delighted little girl's remarks were cut short by her brothers, who declared they wanted a real live pony and engines and things to play with.

Counsel for the five aunts, who contested probating the will, declare the estate is worth less than $200,000, while the children's lawyers value it at approximately $1,000,000. Eighty per cent of the estate goes to the children, under the terms of the will.

FRENCH PAPERS WRITE VIEWS ON M'CORMICK NOTE

Pass Buck to Germany for Debts.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
PARIS, Jan. 23.—Commenting on Senator Medill McCormick's reply, published in the European edition of THE TRIBUNE, to French criticism of his resolution in the senate asking for information on European finance, Jacques Bainville, in Liberte, admits that the senator's thesis contains nothing offensive to France.

"First to Germany."
"If it is true that our creditors have the right to exercise certain control over our affairs, have we not the right to exercise control also on the ultimate debtor, Germany?" he asked. "The reconstruction of Europe must commence with the devastated regions, and the senator's program should apply first to Germany. If Germany recognizes its finances and the policies and attitude of its population are changed, we will have less need for big military expenses."

The Journal des Debats says: "Ignoring the juridical, international, and European viewpoint, the senator bases himself upon the United States internal policy solely."

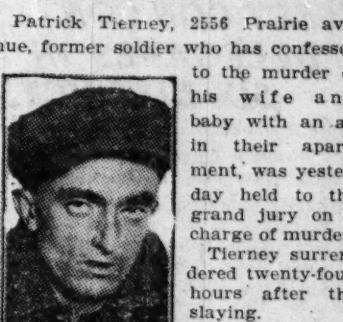

Reply by Lausanne.
In the Matin Stephane Lausanne writes:

"The American taxpayer has advanced exactly $3,067,000,000 to France during the war, which was also the United States' war. The money lent served a common cause, and hardly any of it left the United States. It was employed to pay American makers, American food dealers, American cotton planters, and American shipping companies."

"However, we have never ceased to say that we would pay it—but on one condition, and that is that we, too, are paid money that is owing to us."

"You speak of seven billion dollars which are owed you. But how much is there owing us? Sixteen billion dollars. Germany owes us under due and formal contract, bearing the signature of seventeen civilized nations, more than twelve billion dollars, and Russia owes by virtue of commercial customs of civilized lands more than four billion dollars. So long as Germany and Russia do not pay us we cannot pay you and it is the American taxpayer who will bear in the form of taxes the interest on three billion dollars which we owe you. This you cannot sufficiently repeat to him."

CONFESSES SLAYING HIS WIFE AND BABY; SORRY NOW, HE SAYS

PATRICK TIERNEY.

Patrick Tierney, 2556 Prairie avenue, former soldier who has confessed to the murder of his wife and baby with an ax in their apartment, was yesterday held to the grand jury on a charge of murder.

Tierney surrendered twenty-four hours after the slaying.

"My wife told me she was going to leave me—that she was going to California," I begged her to stay with me. She said she would never live with me again. Then we quarreled—and I killed her. I'm sorry now—but—"

FOREIGN BONDS AND NEW TAXES WILL PAY BONUS

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Sale of bonds of foreign nations to provide funds for a soldiers' bonus was approved by Senator McCumber of North Dakota, the new chairman of the senate finance committee, today in an address in the senate during consideration of the foreign loan refunding bill.

Senator McCumber said he believed it would be necessary to impose some kind of a special tax, probably for a year, until the negotiations with foreign nations are completed and marketable bonds are obtained. He also pleaded that America be not compelled to adopt the rôle of Shylock in dealing with debtor nations. Returning to figures, he estimated that not more than $300,000,000 would be needed during the first year and would start the payments July 1, 1922.

He developed that treasury experts have estimated that about $200,000,000 could be raised from a tax of 3 cents a gallon on gasoline, which would yield $80,000,000; a tax of 2 cents on bank checks, which would bring in $50,000,000; an increase of 1 cent in the present 2 cent stamp for first class mail, which would yield $70,000,000, and increases in stamp taxes applying to negotiable instruments which would produce from $60,000,000 to $90,000,000.

Treasury officials fear that it would cost the government more to pay the soldiers' bonus out of foreign debt bonds than it would to settle American obligations. They point out that it might be necessary to sell the foreign debt bonds at a discount because of their liability to all forms of taxation and that it would be necessary for the United States to guarantee the bonds.

Republican house members may cause Thursday night to discuss bonus legislation.

CROWDED SCHOOLS DANGEROUS GERMS

JUST home from school and complaining of a sore throat? How Mother! Fear the condition, for she knows the serious consequences that may follow.

Always have handy a pleasant tasting, almost candy-like Formamint Tablet, for your child to take. Allow it to dissolve slowly in the mouth, releasing a powerful, yet harmless antiseptic, which mixing with the saliva bathes the tissues of the throat, checking further infection.

Children like to take them, where they rebel at choking gargles and misty sprays, which are not as efficient as Formamint in reaching the deepest tissues of the throat, healing and soothing the inflamed membranes. Relieves hoarseness. Good for speakers, smokers, actors, lecturers, etc. 60c at all druggists.

DENEEN'S STAND DEFEATS PLAN TO SMASH CITY HALL

Alliance with Brundage and Crowe Off.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Breaking point was reached last night in the negotiations between the Brundage, Deneen, and Crowe Republican elements that have been striving to reach an agreement upon a composite county ticket to oppose the Thompson-Lundin machine, which it is known is preparing a full county slate.

Unless there comes a change in the apparently adamant position of the Thompson-Lundin machine, which it is known is preparing a full county slate, the city hall opposition split two or three ways, with Mr. Lundin and the mayor sitting sweet.

Issue Over Lawley and Mueller.
Hope among the interested Republican leaders has not been abandoned entirely and mutual concessions may be made tending to switch the situation as it stood when conferences were abandoned last night.

The only point at issue preventing a complete harmony agreement is Mr. Deneen's opposition to relating Sanitary District Trustees Matthias A. Mueller of the Twenty-ninth ward and James H. Lawley of the Fourteenth ward.

Mr. Deneen said finally and definitely yesterday he and his friends will not stand for these two on an agreed primary slate. State's Attorney Crowe, speaking for ward committeemen who broke away from the city hall following his leadership, thereupon declared himself out of further part in the discussions.

"We're Driven Out"—Crowe.
"We have been driven out and we are through," was Mr. Crowe's statement last night. "I have been fighting the city hall. I continue to fight the city hall. I do not propose to be placed in the position of lying to men for whom I stood as spokesman."

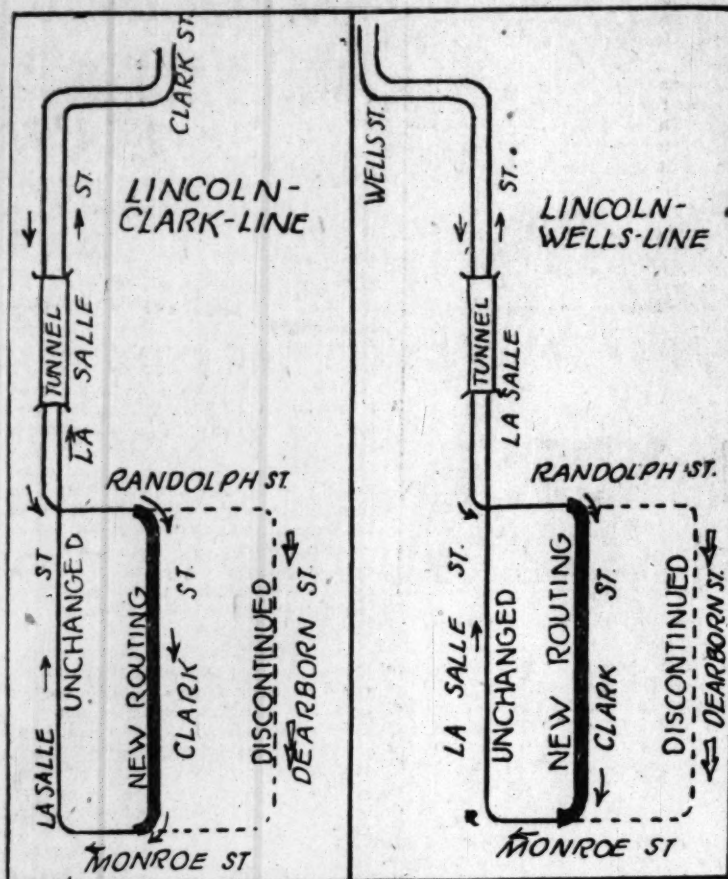

Attorney General Brundage is in the position, apparently, of standing between two fires. Certain Brundage leaders are insistent upon a Brundage-Crowe combination and a complete county slate of his own. Conserva-live men of the Brundage group, however, expect the Brundage and Deneen forces to combine upon a harmony ticket and that a decision to this effect will be reached possibly today.

In that event the suggestion last night was that there will be a straightaway Crowe slate for all offices, with some of Attorney General Brundage's closest friends going with Crowe.

Boiled down to essentials, State's Attorney Crowe's contention is that

YOUR NEW CAR ROUTE

The Tribune herewith presents the second of the series of maps showing changes in routing by the surface lines effective next Saturday. Users of street cars are advised to study the maps carefully and preserve them for future reference. The lines shown today are the Lincoln-Clark and Lincoln-Wells. Cars will operate south through the La Salle street tunnel and east in Randolph street, as at present, but instead of looping by way of Dearborn street they will go south in Clark street to Monroe, west to La Salle, and then back north through the tunnel.

POLITICAL NOTES

The executive committee of the John Ericsson Republican League of Illinois met yesterday at Hotel La Salle and arranged for the annual banquet of the league, to be held on March 9, in the gymnasium of Augustana college, Rock Island. Speakers announced are Senator Medill McCormick, Col. Frank L. Smith, and Congressman William J. Graham of Aledo.

Notices went out last night for a session of the women's Democratic managing committee, comprising one member from each ward, to meet at 11 a. m. tomorrow, at Hotel Sherman headquarters, to recommend woman candidates on the county slate.

Announcement was made of the candidacy for state senator in the Twenty-first district of Frederick J. Bippus, now member of the house.

former Gov. Deneen, in early conferences, gave his approval to the slating of Mueller and Lawley. This was on the theory that the sanitary district board would be reorganized immediately and the Thompson-Lundin control of the board shattered at once. Mr. Crowe says he carried such word back to the two trustees.

The Deneen faction's position is that these negotiations had to do only with the possibility of a general Republican-Democratic coalition in opposition to the city hall, and contingent largely upon a smashup between County Judge Riggheimer and the city hall politicians, with the control of the election machinery at stake.

Coalition fell through, the Deneen people hold, and any agreements made are "off."

ELECT CON CON DELEGATES IN SIX DISTRICTS

One Republican and one Democrat—each strongly opposed to any unreasonable restriction of Cook county's legislative representation—were elected yesterday to fill vacancies in the Illinois constitutional convention.

In four downstate districts delegates were elected, said to be prepared to vote for the County Representation league's program of restriction of Cook county in both branches of the general assembly.

In the Second district, on the west side, Chicago, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Michael F. Sullivan, George W. Tebbens, Republican, defeated Abraham Yarmo, Democrat, by a vote of 1,290 to 384, with three precincts missing. This is a normally Democratic district.

In the Twenty-seventh senatorial district, on the west side, Chicago, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of E. J. Corcoran, former Ald. Stanley Adamkiewicz, Democrat, defeated Joseph Parker, Republican, by a vote of 1,446 to 53, with two precincts out.

U. S. COURT OPEN TO 5 CENT FARE PLEA, JUDGE SAYS

Chester E. Cleveland, the special $150 a day lawyer of the city administration, was told yesterday that the federal court is ready and waiting for him to present his evidence justifying a 5 cent street car fare.

Three federal judges, George A. Carpenter, Evan A. Evans, and George T. Page, have already decided that Cleveland and associated lawyers did not make-out a case for the nickel fare before the Illinois commerce commission. Therefore they issued an interlocutory injunction against the commission's order.

Rebuffed Again.
Cleveland appeared yesterday asking that the temporary injunction be dissolved because he alleged that no bond had been filed. Again the three judges turned him down.

But Judge Carpenter assured Attorney Cleveland publicly that he will set everything aside and devote his whole time to hearing the 5 cent fare case on its merits whenever Cleveland is ready for a hearing on the permanent injunction. The judge said that this case will be placed first on the court calendar.

He distinctly gave the impression he is waiting for Cleveland, who, it is said, can present any evidence in support of the 5 cent fare, regardless of whether it was previously presented to the Illinois commerce commission.

Year of Inaction.
Mayor Thompson and Gov. Small promised a 5 cent fare repeatedly in the last state campaign and it is now more than a year since the governor was inaugurated.

Mr. Cleveland did not file his petition for a new hearing on the 5 cent fare before the commerce commission yesterday, as he had announced. Nor did he announce the reason. He visited the rooms of the commission, no commissioners were there, and he then said that he will renew his efforts this afternoon or tomorrow.

15 RAIL UNION CHIEFS MEET TO STUDY U. S. BOARD

Action that may relegate the United States labor board to the rear as an arbitration body is likely, according to some forecasts, to grow out of a meeting that convened in the Great Northern hotel yesterday, when heads of fifteen of the sixteen railway labor unions assembled to discuss future policy.

The resolution of the Association of Railway Executives, adopted here last Saturday and advocating regional conference committees that would leave the labor board functioning as little more than a court of last resort, will receive consideration, it was unofficially reported.

This plan for regional conferences grew out of the sessions in Washington presided over by Secretary of Commerce Hoover and attended by railway executives and certain of the "Big Four" brotherhood chiefs. The proposal will prevail, it is said, if shopcrafts and maintenance men support it.

SCHOOL CHIEFS SEEK AN APPEAL TO ESCAPE JAIL

"Licked," Bither Says,
but They Will Fight On.

Only the Supreme court of the state can now save nine members of the Chicago board of education as it was constituted in November, 1920, and its attorney, William A. Bither, from the contempt sentences imposed upon them by Judge Scanlan as a result of the ousting of Supt. Charles E. Chadsey.

Following an adverse ruling in the appellate court yesterday, by which six men members and Attorney Bither would have to go to jail and three women members would have to pay fines, preliminary moves were made to take the case to the Supreme court.

High Court May Use Discretion. Attorneys stated last night that the Supreme court may, at its discretion, hear or decline to hear arguments. In the latter event the sentences would become effective at once, unless the case was taken to the United States Supreme court on constitutional grounds, which is deemed unlikely. Judge Scanlan had held the board members in contempt of court when he became convinced they had resorted to subterfuge to evade an order that would have left Dr. Chadsey in the position now occupied by Peter A. Mortenson.

These Hit by Decision.

The defendants and the sentences are:

Mr. Bither, five days in jail and a $500 fine.

Albert H. Severinghaus, vice president of the board, three days in jail and a $500 fine.

Hart Hanson, three days and a $300 fine.

George B. Arnold, former school board trustee and now state director of labor, two days in jail and a $250 fine.

James B. Reznay, one day in jail and a $500 fine.

Francis E. Croarkin, one day in jail and a $500 fine.

Dr. B. Klarkowski, former school board trustee, one day in jail and a $500 fine.

Mrs. F. E. Thornton, $750 fine.

Mrs. Sadie Bay Adair, $750 fine.

Mrs. Lulu M. Snodgrass, former school board trustee, $300 fine.

All, excepting as otherwise indicated, are still members of the board of education.

"Licked" for the Present.

"We are licked for the time being," said Attorney Bither last night, "but the case will be carried to the Supreme court on a writ of certiorari. Notice of our intention to file the writ already has been served, and this automatically stays execution of sentence."

The sentences affirmed by the Appellate court came as one of the sensational developments of a fight that Thompson forces waged in their effort to seat the present superintendent of schools.

While the anti-Thompson members were in majority when the election of Dr. Chadsey was effected, subterfuge soon shifted. The Thompsons were not long in taking advantage of their new strength. They challenged the validity of Dr. Chadsey's election.

Scanlan Rules for Chadsey.

The issue was brought before Judge Scanlan, who ruled that the superintendent had been legally chosen. Then came the alleged subterfuge. A code of rules that transferred to Mr. Mortenson, then assistant superintendent, all the powers properly vested in the superintendent was adopted.

Judge Scanlan then held the recalcitrant trustees in contempt of court. Dr. Chadsey resigned and later accepted a professorship at the University of Illinois.

The Appellate court holds that the defendants attempted "to give Mr. Mortenson, who had been ousted by judgment from the office of superintendent, all powers pertaining thereto in face of the judgment."

"The adoption of these rules," reads an excerpt from the finding, "obviously was an attempt to defeat or circumvent the judgment order of the Circuit court and was contemptuous."

SCHOOL BOARD SENTENCES UPHeld

Mrs. Lulu M. Snodgrass, sentenced to pay $300 fine. Hart Hanson, three days in jail and $300 fine. Judge Kickham Scanlan, who pronounced contempt sentences. James B. Reznay, one day in jail and $300 fine. Albert H. Severinghaus, three days in jail and $300 fine.

Francis E. Croarkin, one day in jail and $300 fine. Mrs. F. E. Thornton, sentenced to pay $750 fine. George B. Arnold, two days in jail and $250 fine. Dr. Sadie Bay Adair, sentenced to pay $750 fine. Dr. B. Klarkowski, one day in jail and $300 fine. [Dreyfus Photo.]

U. S. AND CANADA TRADE RIVALS IN WEST INDIES

British Link Business to Strategy.

By PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign Service.]

Copyright, 1922, by The Chicago Tribune.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Jan. 23.—The scheme for reorganization of the crown colonies of Great Britain which Maj. Edward Wood, undersecretary of the colonies, has taken, at the direction of Winston Churchill, is expected to include not only the strategic importance of these islands in view of the last two years' development of the airship and submarine, but also a survey of the trade possibilities in this part of the empire. Maj. Wood is now at Trinidad.

The British have been here since the time of Oliver Cromwell. The bulk of the population is colored, and they believe in British justice rather than what they have heard of American treatment of the Negroes. But the rub is that trade follows the line of least resistance, and the British are building tariff walls to make "themselves a sustaining empire," as a result of lessons learned in the great war. Trade does not follow the flag as empire builders believe it should, and this is the reason why the West Indian confederations and Canadian annexationists are busy at this time. The people are not agitated about it.

Shy at U. S. Rule.

Business men admit that property values would jump and that Jamaica would reach prosperity now denied if American protection were granted. A suggestion was made in the British press some time ago that this method for the liquidation of the war debts to America be adopted, but it is not probable that this proposal will be carried out.

The people are not intelligent enough to vote on it. They are moving rather in the direction of self-government. In view of the failure of the confederation, England is trying to get Canada to do all it can for the islands. America and Canada at present are engaged in a keen trade rivalry in the West Indies. The Canadians are working through a chain of banks and a trade commissioner, and there is a Canadian preferential tariff. In view of this it is urged that these islands become the tropical part of the British Empire of America, extending from the north pole to the equator, shutting out the United States with tariff walls.

Has Not Worked.

This sounds all right, but it has not worked out so far. In 1920 the customs of Jamaica show imports valued at $50,000,000. Of this the United States sent $20,000,000, the United Kingdom $15,000,000, and Canada the balance. In manufactured articles however, the United States showed a decrease, while the Canadians showed an increase. The exports amounted to about $30,000,000. The United Kingdom took 42 per cent, a decrease; the United States took 28 per cent, a small increase, and Canada 20 per cent, a big increase.

Forty per cent of the preference went to the United Kingdom, cotton pieces swinging this trade back to the pre-war level. A slight new factor is the return of the Germans in tinware, ladies' hosiery, and toys. Agents make more profit in handling German goods than the others.

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in Chicago for week ending Saturday, Jan. 21, on shipments sold out, ranged from 7 cents to 17 cents per pound and averaged 11.01 cents per pound.—Adv.

FAHERTY WANTS 14 'EXPERTS' NOW WHERE HE HAD 3

Also He Urges Adoption of Costly Fee System.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Mike Faherty has broken out again with the "expert" fever. He has it much worse than he had it before.

He wants to re-establish the old system of expert fees by which five men, obtaining more than $2,742,000 in cash from the city treasury in approximately one year. He so recommended yesterday in writing to the council finance committee. He did it in the face of two suits of the Tribune.

Two nonresident taxpayers to recover the money already paid the experts. He did it despite the opinion of many that the expert fee exposure was largely instrumental in defeating all of the Thompson-Lundin candidates for the Circuit court bench last June.

Ignores Offers of Realty Board. The president of the board of local improvements would reestablish the old system, notwithstanding the finance committee and city council discarded it last year and the Chicago Real Estate board has officially offered to do the work for a cost which it has been estimated would be from one-twenty-fifth to one-thirty-fifth of what the city has been paying.

But that is not half. Faherty asks that where he had three experts on real estate in 1920 he be given fourteen in 1922. Where he had two building experts heretofore, Faherty now asks six. He even asks $70,000 for experts on Ogden avenue, where all the experting has been done, the evidence submitted to the court, and the hearing ended. What this money could be for is a mystery, unless he wants to pay experts who have not heretofore received their compensation.

"Experts," and More "Experts." Then, in addition, Mike asks for seven lawyers, all special and expert, of course, at $50 a day each; and then "expert" condemnation clerks, "expert" law stenographers, "expert" special assessment clerks, and "expert" law investigators at salaries from $2,000 to $4,000 a year each. And each of these is labeled "expert" in the proposed budget of the board of local improvements.

This budget asks "For expert services—real estate experts, three on the basis of 1 per cent of the basis of value of the property and $50 a day."

Thomas E. Wilson of Chicago, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers.

Mr. Wilson urged the taking of steps to increase the per capita consumption of meat, which has declined more than twenty-seven pounds during the last twenty years, as a means of increasing the demand for live stock, upon which depends the prosperity of millions of farmers.

A. Sykes, president of the Corn Belt Meat Producers' association, gave a moving recital of the plight of the farmers, asserting that in raising war production to the maximum, "our wives, mothers, and daughters have worked in the fields as never before," while now thousands of farmers who bought farms at the peak prices of 1919 and 1920 "are facing financial ruin."

Why Farmers Are Peevish.
"Men who are working ten to fifteen hours a day and facing a situation of this sort day after day want results," he went on. "From a greatly reduced income they are compelled to pay greatly increased prices for supplies and transportation. They become impatient under the necessity of paying railroad rates 50 per cent above pre-war rates, coal prices 100 per cent above pre-war prices, and other prices 50 to 150 per cent above pre-war prices."

"They read in government reports that persons engaged in other great industries continue to enjoy abnormally high compensation for their services."

"Farmers in the corn belt want to know why ham is sold at retail throughout the country at about six times the price per pound of live hogs in Chicago, when the normal rate is about one to three and a half."

WANT DAYLIGHT SAVING FOR 5, NOT 7 MONTHS

The annual daylight saving period will be cut from seven to five months hereafter if the city council follows the lead taken by its judiciary committee yesterday.

Aldermen on the committee voted unanimously to recommend an ordinance which would put Chicago on a daylight saving basis from the last Sunday in April until the last Sunday in September. Last year daylight saving began at 2 a. m. on the last Sunday in March and ended at the same hour on the last Sunday of October.

PICKLER JAILED BY WAITRESS HE ADVERTISED FOR

Vincent Noga, a Dill Pickler, put a sign in the window of his Pizen Pup kafe, 318½ North Clark street, yesterday. It read:

"Female help wanted: Temperamental waitress, with magnetic personality, explosive, artistic, vamp eyes. Disposition untamed, but gentle and loving."

Miss Florence Cotner, 19, of 1244 North La Salle, applied and was accepted for about five minutes. She called the police. Noga's in the house now. She says he insulted her.

1/4 Pound or 4 oz. Short

You wouldn't think of paying for a dozen oranges and accepting nine.

If you don't know what you are getting, that's exactly what may happen when you buy some brands of baking powder that used to be put up in 16 oz., or full pound cans and now come in 12 oz. or 3/4 pound cans. Of course the weight is marked on the label, but the can may look as large as usual to you.

Don't take chances—look at the can—know how many ounces of baking powder you are getting.

One safe way is to always buy Calumet. You know the large can contains 16 oz. or a full pound—that nothing has been taken from the quantity or quality.

Calumet has more than the ordinary leavening strength. You don't have to guess—you know you use less. It is pure and sure.

BUILDING CHIEFS ASK LANDIS FOR NEW WAGE SCALE

Unions Object to His Arbitration.

Within the next few days Judge Landis will hold a conference with representatives of the Associated Builders of Chicago and the Building Construction Employers' association—the two large contractors' associations—to decide upon a wage scale for the building trades for the year starting June 1. It is believed that there will be no change from the scale decided upon last September by Judge Landis. Judge Landis at a recent hearing raised the rate of pay in several of the trades when it was shown that they had not received an equitable wage provision in the original award. Neither of the two builders' associations will make any recommendations relative to a new wage scale, it was announced yesterday. This leaves the matter solely between the union officials and the arbitrator.

Union Leaders Balk.
Last week leaders of the unions declared that under no circumstances would they appear before Judge Landis as arbitrator for the building trades. It is said that a petition signed by the dissatisfied union leaders had been sent to Judge Landis, asking him to resign from his position as arbitrator. Under the award made Sept. 7 it was also agreed that on or before Feb. 1, 1922, the umpire should determine the rates of pay for the building trades unions from May 31 for the period of one year.

A delegation from the two builders' associations were to appear before the judge yesterday to argue their side of any proposed wage changes. Judge Landis was ill, but the leaders of both employing groups made it plain that they would advise no changes from the present scale.

Confidence in Landis.
"We feel that Judge Landis is as familiar with conditions in the building industry as we are," averred Edward M. Craig, secretary of the Building Construction Employers' association. "We are willing to leave it entirely up to the judge."

The Associated Builders took the same stand and pointed to a resolution passed by their organization, which read as follows:
"Moved and seconded that the Associated Builders notify Judge Landis that they would under no conditions consider or consent to his withdrawal as arbitrator in the building trades dispute."

"That they also notify him that the Associated Builders have no recommendation to make regarding a wage scale in the building trades for the year beginning June 1, 1922."

Business Agents Meet.
The board of business agents of the Chicago Building Trades council met yesterday in Hodcarriers' hall to discuss further action in calling strikes on construction work where nonunion mechanics are employed. The business agents represented the twenty-eight building trade organizations that have refused to abide by the wage provisions of the Landis award. Representatives of the bricklayers, electricians, and architectural iron workers, it is said, did not attend the meeting. These unions, from the time Judge Landis announced his decision, have accepted the judge's findings and have refused to support the organizations which agreed upon the judge as an arbitrator and then repudiated his award.

LAD KIDNAPED, POLICE SEARCH FOR HIS FATHER

Police last night were searching for George Uebels, estranged husband of Mrs. Elsie Uebels, 820 Newport avenue, following the disappearance early yesterday morning of their son, William, 12 years old, from the mother's home.

William, apparently, was kidnapped from his bedroom. His 15 year old brother yesterday told the police that he had heard a slight noise about 2 o'clock, but that he didn't see any one. Mrs. Uebels discovered the lad was missing when yesterday she entered the boy's bedroom to call them. She immediately notified the police. They found a window in the bathroom open and signs that some one had entered.

DEATH THREAT IS SENT WITNESS IN JANITORS' TRIAL

Charges that an attempt had been made to intimidate a state witness were made yesterday to Judge John A. Swanson in the Criminal court, before whom William Quesse, president of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union, and nine other officials are on trial charged with conspiracy.

The accusations were made by Special Prosecutor Edwin J. Raber, after Albert Fuchs, former owner of the Chateau apartments, had testified to the payment of graft to officials of the union in the form of "fines." Fuchs was plainly nervous as he testified, and Mr. Raber told the judge that he had been called on the telephone the night before and told that if he testified he would "get what George got." Fuchs was a friend of Adolf Quesse, proprietor of the Wein Stube, on Randolph street, who was shot to death a few weeks ago.

Fuchs, in his testimony, told how he had been "fined" $4,000 because a union janitor in his building had done a little varnishing, and how, after considerable difficulty, he had settled for $400. On other occasions he said "fines" of $40 and $53, and he said that he had had trouble continually with the janitors' union until he sold the building.

Another witness, George J. Williams, 1519 East 60th street, testified that Quesse had told him the janitors were going to run the flat buildings of Chicago or know the reason why.
"A strike had been called on my buildings and I appealed to Quesse," he testified.
"If you are damn fool enough to own a flat building," he told me, "that's your lookout. The flat janitors are going to run the flat buildings in Chicago on their own terms." While Judge Swanson was hearing the janitors' case, work of selecting a jury to try Simon O'Donnell, former president of the Chicago Building Trades council, and three other labor officials was being carried on before Judge John R. Caverly.

What Is the Lure of "the Other Woman?"

WHY must "another woman" so often come into a man's life? What is the secret of her seemingly irresistible attraction that draws him away from home and family? What is that strange spell that brings destruction to so many happy lives?

Is it true that a man cannot hold faithful to his wife for life? That he takes his vow at the marriage altar with mental reservations?

Why will a man trample under foot the devotion of a beautiful, faithful wife,—cast aside loving children—hurl ambition, achievement, and honor into the discard—wreck his life's work to bask in the smiles of "the other woman?" Read

"Stenographer or Wife"

Beginning in February Issue of The National Pictorial Monthly

With motive-dissecting pen Mr. John R. Coryell lays the hidden impulses and passions that actuated Robert Thorn to cast aside marital duty and honor for "the other woman." Through this heart gripping story you will learn the price that Barbara Thorn paid to learn the nature of "her one man." Through this frank, enlightening story you will learn who is to blame for the double standard. Perhaps you will think this enthralling serial sordid in places—as it must be in order to faithfully depict an evil that is rarely given much publicity. But every woman who reads it will at least understand the possible situation that she may be called upon to face tomorrow—perhaps has already faced it.

Mother and Son— Both

DARYL WILSON is a prize winner—having been awarded first prize at a baby show in Milwaukee. Borden's Eagle Brand Milk has been his food and Mrs. Wilson attributes his wonderful health and perfect physique to that. She herself was brought up on Eagle Brand. And her baby started life with a fine constitution, although she gives chief credit to his food.

Thousands of mothers, besides Mrs. Wilson, have testified to the benefits of Eagle Brand as an infant food. Thousands of doctors have recommended it in difficult feeding cases, because Eagle Brand is easily digested.

Here is a case of two generations of Eagle Brand babies—both mother and son. For Eagle Brand has been the standard baby food for a great many years.

Don't experiment with your baby. Borden's Eagle Brand Milk is the natural food when mother's milk fails—for it is nothing but pure milk and sugar.

The Inquirer is First in Philadelphia

The Inquirer leads all other Philadelphia Newspapers in total lines of advertising carried during 1921.

1921 was a trying year of changes and readjustments in business—a year that put newspapers to the real tests of value and ability to produce results.

That The Inquirer has succeeded in meeting these severe tests is shown by its overwhelming lead in circulation and advertising.

Last year The Inquirer printed the greatest volume of advertising of any newspaper in Philadelphia—a total of 16,744,800 lines—a million lines more than its nearest competitor.

But of even greater significance than The Inquirer's unquestioned supremacy in advertising in Philadelphia, is the high position it has reached as a nationally recognized newspaper. Only three other morning newspapers in the United States exceeded it last year in the volume of paid advertising printed.

IN making your advertising plans, remember that The Inquirer is FIRST in advertising—FIRST in reader attention—and FIRST in result-producing circulation in Philadelphia.

The Following Classifications Show The Inquirer's Leadership in the Advertising of Articles that Appeal to the Home

The Inquirer Is FIRST in Department Store Advertising

LAST year The Philadelphia Inquirer printed 4,919,750 lines of department store advertising—leading the second Philadelphia paper by 1,320,255 lines.

Department stores are on the ground—and they know which paper produces the greatest results from a dollar and cents standpoint.

The Inquirer Is FIRST in Classified Advertising

DURING 1921 The Inquirer printed 17,042 columns of classified advertising or nearly seven thousand more columns than the next Philadelphia paper.

This dominant leadership in classified advertising is proof of The Inquirer's combined class and popular appeal.

The Inquirer Is FIRST in Musical Instrument Advertising

THE Inquirer printed 488,385 lines of musical instrument advertising (foreign and local)—over 100,000 more than any other newspaper. This decisive preference on the part of both National and Local Musical Instrument Advertisers is an excellent indication of The Inquirer's ability to produce results for commodities regardless of their price.

The Inquirer Is FIRST in Furniture and Carpet Advertising

LAST year The Inquirer carried 609,155 lines of furniture and carpet advertising against 437,515 by its nearest competitor.

What could more conclusively prove the value of The Inquirer's tremendous influence in the thousands of Philadelphia homes?

The Inquirer Leads All Morning Papers in Food Advertising

IN 1921 The Inquirer carried 659,920 lines of food advertising—over ninety thousand more than any other morning paper.

That The Inquirer is the dominating newspaper in this field where morning papers are delivered to the homes every day is evidenced by this decided preference of the food advertisers.

W. H. SPAULDING CHOSEN FOR JOB OF GOPHER COACH

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 23.—W. H. Spaulding, football coach of the Western Teachers' college, Kalamazoo, Mich., tonight was appointed head football coach at the University of Minnesota. He will take charge immediately, succeeding Dr. Harvey L. Williams after the latter's twenty-two year regime. John McGovern, formerly Gopher football star, had been prominently mentioned for the job, but considerable opposition to him developed on the campus.

Surprise to Gopher Followers.
The appointment of Coach Spaulding was made at a meeting of the university joint athletic committee and was a big surprise not only to Minnesota sport followers not closely in touch with the trend of the coaching situation here but to the campus and local alumni. It was the second big move in the new Gopher athletic policy of supplanting the old regime with a new system of athletic director and a corps of head coaches in the major sports.

The signing of Spaulding follows that of Fred Luehring, former Nebraska director, to be athletic director at Minnesota. Spaulding was a former Wabash college star.

"Maker" of Normal Sports.
Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—William H. Spaulding, Western State Normal coach, who today signed to coach the University of Minnesota football team, has been connected with the local institution since its inception in 1907. He graduated from Wabash that same year, having played on the basketball, baseball, and football teams. He played half back, and was an "all-rounder" in 1905.

Spaulding, as athletic director of the local school, has turned out the best teams in the state in all branches of sport. His basketball and baseball teams have won from Michigan and Michigan Aggies. With only a small number of students each year for football, he has produced winning aggregations.

Last fall the Normal defeated the Notre Dame freshmen and the Milwaukee engineers. The previous year Normal beat Wabash and University of Detroit. Spaulding is a driver, who keeps his men on the jump all the time.

Spears Declines Job.
Morgantown, W. Va., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—"Pat" Spears declined a three year contract to coach the University of Minnesota football team and will return to West Virginia university as head coach next fall. It was announced here today. Spears was an all-American player at Dartmouth.

STARRED AGAINST MAROONS. COLUMBUS PARK WILL HOLD STATE GOLF TITLE MEET

With Jackson park having the annual city championship and Garfield park the Cook county title event, the Columbus park club will climb into the spotlight this summer by staging the amateur championship of Illinois. Illinois is one of the few states which has no state organization and Columbus park thus will step into the breach and establish a state championship.

The Westward Ho Golf club held its annual meeting and election last night at the Hamilton club. There was no opposition to the regular ticket, which was elected as follows:

President, C. M. Lauritzen; vice president, W. J. Boyd and A. A. Baser; secretary, E. H. Lyles; treasurer, B. A. Campbell; directors for three years, I. W. Larkin, M. A. Vandenberg.

SKATERS ENTER
MILWAUKEE MEET
A number of local skaters will journey to Milwaukee on Sunday to compete in the northwest championships to be held over a six lap course in Washington park there. Titles in the various classes will be decided, together with championships for boys of different ages.

The board of control of the Western Skating association will meet tonight at the Hotel Morrison, where plans will be made to go to the Cream City in special cars.

Purdue university's basketball quintet, led by Don White, scored its third straight conference win last night when it defeated Northwestern, 32 to 19, at Patten gymnasium, before a packed house.

Jimmy Patterson, shooter of the Purple, making four goals from the floor.

The Purple jumped into the lead at the beginning, caging the ball twice for counters and with a free throw making the score 5 to 0 in a few minutes.

The Boilermakers seemed lost on the Purple floor at the start, but soon got their bearings, and began making baskets with steady regularity. The half ended 17 to 9 in Purdue's favor.

With the opening of the second period, Don White got his eye and the Purdue side of the score tilted steadily upward. Lineup:

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

SKIING AN AMATEUR SPORT!
While followers of football and many other sports are deprecating the influence of professionalism, we find the National Ski association abolishing the professional class.

In the national tournament at Cary Sunday the number of amateur entrants greatly exceeded the professional, in direct contrast to the events of a few years ago. The mark of the amateur winner, a former pro who was reinstated to the amateur ranks, exceeded that of the pro class winner.

While we do not think abolition of the pro class will make many of us spectators anxious to take that flight straight conference win last night when it defeated Northwestern, 32 to 19, at Patten gymnasium, before a packed house.

GUS FETZ BECOMES A DERBY CONTENDER

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.
Because of his showing in the Illinois state championships Sunday, when he tied with Julian Steinmetz of Norwegian-American A. A. for second place, Gus Fetz of the Opal A. A. is looming as a strong contender for honors in the senior Silver Skates race, feature of The Tribune's annual derbies at Humboldt park lagoon Feb. 5.

Fetz tied for second place with 50 points, to 60 for Harry Kaskey of Alverno A. A., who won the title. Fetz has shown improvement with every big meet this year, and this led to his club's sending him east for the international and national championships.

Great Race Certain.
Although it is early to figure probable winners, a great race should result in the senior derby. With Harry Kaskey, Fetz, Fred Buendgen, Julian Steinmetz, the Reed brothers, Tony Hollander, and George Thomson giving every indication of meeting in the final heat, one of the hottest contests of the year should result.

With five days remaining before entries for THE TRIBUNE races close, and a number of leading skating organizations yet to be heard from, a record list of nominations is expected. Those desiring to enter the races are requested to clip the coupons appearing on the sports pages and mail them as directed.

Tip to Team Captains.
Captains of racing teams or playground directors may make entry by sending in their complete list on one sheet of paper with the age of each contestant after his or her name. Such an entry will be accepted providing the list is signed by the manager or director of the team.

COLLEGE FIVES TO COMPETE IN NATIONAL MEET

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 23.—A national intercollegiate basketball tournament will be held in Indianapolis March 9 to 11 under auspices of the Indianapolis junior chamber of commerce, it was announced today. The following organizations, it was said, already have accepted invitations to participate:

Western Pennsylvania league, West Virginia conference, Southern intercollegiate athletic association, Missouri Valley conference, and the Pacific Coast Northwest conference. Officials of the Eastern Collegiate league expressed their approval of the event, but stated their schedule will not be completed in time to compete. The Western Intercollegiate league also has been invited. The Western Conference declined to participate.

DETROIT BOYS TO RACE CHICAGO

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Detroit's schoolboy skaters must show that the time they make in competition compares favorably with the feats of Chicago's flyers, or their chances of taking part in an intercity meet are not as rosy as they might be. They must pass the test in the winter sports carnival and again in the city interscholastic meet before Director L. M. Post will sanction their journey to Chicago. The victory of Chicago's prep flyers over those of Cleveland, 54 to 0, is well recalled here.

DE PAUL IN 2 GAMES THIS WEEK.
De Paul university will play two basketball games this week, meeting Crane college at Crane tomorrow and Columbia college of Duquesne at Broadway armory Saturday.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

175 HENS; 120 EGGS A DAY.

BIGGER day's work in the poultry yard is the thing that every flock owner must look out for if he expects to get enough eggs in winter to pay the hen's feed bill. A deep into dozens of poultry houses in Chicago reveals the fact that comparatively few back yard poultry keepers are taking advantage of lighting their henhouses to increase winter egg production.

Lighting up the poultry houses in the morning and evening in order that the hens will have time to consume more feed and in turn lay more eggs is not a trick designed especially for the commercial egg producer but is one that can be used by any one who keeps chickens. Electric lights are probably best, while lanterns are being successfully used on farms where electricity is not available.

H. S. Lessem, a practical poultryman at Cary Station, Ill., says that artificial lighting has increased his flock's output of eggs 70 per cent. He has been using lights in his henhouse for two years and says he would not think of trying to raise poultry, especially in winter, without them. Out of 175 hens and pullets he is getting from 110 to 120 eggs a day.

Lights not only get the eggs but the chicks hatched are strong and healthy and lay within four and a half to five months, writes Mr. Lessem. He uses the illumination in the evenings from 4:30 to 8:30. Gasoline lanterns are used, as there are no electric lights where he is located.

After months of rumor that "Peter Ibbetson," the play, was to come to the screen with all the Barrymores figuring in the cast, it appears at last, labeled "Forever," featuring Wallace Reid and Elsie Ferguson. Just why this constant, costumed activity on the part of producers to change names cannot figure, O, well, let 'em have their little mystery! "Forever," which is "Peter Ibbetson," is a work of art.

Though beautifully done on the part of everybody concerned, there is to my way of thinking—not much chance that the photoplay will be a great box office success. The story of a great love that lasted from childhood to beyond the grave and glorified for the dark confines of a Newgate prison cell sounds too many minor chords to insure that thing called popularity. And while Peter Ibbetson is Wallace Reid and Mimsey is Elsie Ferguson—they are not Wallace Reid and Elsie Ferguson as the fans have known them.

However, time and receipts will show. Certainly never have either Mr. Reid or Miss Ferguson proved more truly that within them burns the spark of genius. They have genuinely artistic support from all other members of the cast.

From the standpoint of production "Forever" is at once lavish and exquisite. Mr. Fitzmaurice, at times inclined to be rather too florid, has in this picture shown a nice sense of when and how to use the soft pedal. Costumes, sets, scenery, photography—everything—please the eye and gratify the sense of fitness.

So "Forever" is recommended to you as a thing of beauty. Whether you will like it or not—you shall say.

CLOSEUPS

Robert Ellis (Mr. May Allison) who has for some time been merely directing, has again signed up as an actor. He will appear with Dorothy Phillips in "The Soul Seeker."

Max Linder, all over bronchitis, is again at work in his burlesque of "The Three Musketeers." Do you think "The Three Musketeers" should be burlesqued?

Gladys Walton is reported as being a barnyard fan. She has chickens, ducks, two turkeys and a flock of goldfish. The last named are said to inhabit a fountain in her back yard.

Bright Sayings of the Children
The Tribune will pay $1 for each child's saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unsolicited contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address Bright Sayings to Auntie Bee, Tribune, Chicago.

Billy had gone with his mother on a visit to his uncle, who owned a farm. When they arrived they were met by Billy's uncle. As they seated themselves in the machine Billy noticed a dachshund sitting beside his uncle in the front seat. Having never before seen such a dog he suddenly exclaimed: "Oo, look, muver, look at that thing that's two dogs long 'n' half a dog high!" L. B.

Alma, who had gone to visit some relatives, developed a severe case of homesickness and, when asked if she didn't like her cousins, she replied, "Yes, I like them, but not as well as home-grown folks." M. G.

Doris Blake Says:

If your birthday is today, you are RECKLESS.

You crave excitement and "go." Consequently you will throw over an excellent opportunity for want of power to stick and work things out slowly and surely. You are not lazy. But you waste your energies by not sticking to a definite purpose. You have great possibilities, but the one thing you must fight for is more continuity of purpose.

Hasn't Committed Himself.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 20 years of age and just came to this country a few months ago. I am love with a young man a few years my senior who gave me a beautiful present before coming here so that I would never forget him. He never said he loved me, although he took a great interest in me. Do you think I may keep on hoping?"

Yes, but then I would not pass up any good opportunities to make new friends among the men you may meet here.

For the Chill Day in the Southland

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—Jack Frost, like everybody else in Who's Who, occasionally visits the south. And lacking in wisdom is the woman who goes to Florida unprepared for an introduction to him. There are always days when the warm wrap is a necessity, and for the south as well as the north the blue duvetyne coat such as is shown today is an absolute necessity. The trimming here is of gray squirrel.

More exclusively for the south are the new tweed wraps and suits in the Kashmir colorings, which are extensively featured by one of our specialty shops. These are, of course, imported and they are all lined stunningly with oriental crepe silks.

Tweeds and homespuns are in evidence in all possible tints for the rough and ready wrap for Florida, while the dressy occasion is met usually by the white cape or coat.

Many of the latter are in broadcloth trimmed with black—either braid or monkey. White perline is also a favorite. However, this last fabric now occurs in the vivid stripes and plaids which appeal so strongly to the designer of southern sports wear.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Irish Stew with a Bone.

"Yes, Irish stew is our favorite winter dish," said a "dainty official of a food and cookery exhibition in Dublin to me, adding, "The simpler it is made the better." It must not be swimming in water. "And just at hand were "Cookery Notes," prepared by the department of agriculture, in which the proportions given for Irish stew were: One pound of lean mutton, two pounds of potatoes, two onions, one-half pint of water, salt, and pepper.

In Exeter stew, which is used in Irish stew countries as an alternate of Irish, leg of beef is used instead of mutton, and no vegetables except onion, flour being used for thickening it. Now, it is my own private opinion that short lengths of marrow bones, cooked in a reasonable amount of water for about three hours or more, with potatoes added to absorb largely the liquid and fat, during the last hour or hour and a half, and two or three onions for the seasoning of all, all highly salted—make for superior stew if the cook is superior. There need not be more than a quarter of a pound of meat, cut fine, with the bone. The water must be added to the bones cold, and the cooking be gentle from first to last.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Missed His Connection.

The other day I walked into a drug store to use the telephone. I walked to the counter, intending to get a slug. A clerk approached me and asked what I wished.

Absent-mindedly I replied, "Give me Drexel 7581." J. S.

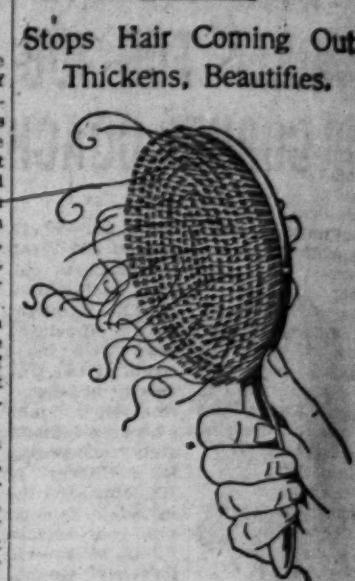

A Chair for Solace.

The most embarrassing moment in my life happened, while I was on my vacation at a summer resort. I did not know how to dance and evenings I was left to myself. I went on the porch, thinking myself alone, and began to dance with a chair for a partner.

Imagine my surprise when the music stopped and I looked up to see the whole resort watching me. G. A.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

N. M. C. THE GREAT SECRET OF inducing flesh is to keep moving. Don't stop often to rest. Diet, of course, plays a most important part in reducing. Avoid all fat producing foods. Don't sleep more than eight hours, and do not take naps during the day. I shall be glad to send you a little booklet I have on reducing instructions, containing diets and exercises, if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

J. J. C. IF THE MORNING COLD shows chills you, or if there is depression afterwards, it will be injurious to your health. On the other hand, if it makes you feel refreshed and invigorated afterwards, it is most beneficial.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

All Need Clothes.

"I hope you will be able to help me. My husband has been sick and unable to work for six months. I am asking if some of your readers have clothing for an infant. I expect the stock at any time. I have three boys—11, 9 and 8—all in need of clothing. I would gladly send anywhere in the city, for I am able to make things over."

"Mrs. D."

Grateful for Books.

"May I ask for some books for a 17 year old patient who is trying to improve her education? At present she has a dictionary, and some first year English books."

Plan to Reopen Branch Libraries

The reopening of nineteen branch libraries, closed last year for lack of funds; restoration of full time service at the main library, and the establishment of new agencies where growth and industrial conditions demand, comprise the high lights of the Chicago public library's program for 1922 as outlined at the annual meeting of the board of directors yesterday by Librarian Carl B. Roden.

Charles E. Schick, vice president of the North Avenue State bank, was elected president of the board for the ensuing year.

Mr. Roden, in his report, explained that the new program of expansion is made possible by the new tax rate of eight-tenths of a mill, which is expected to yield about 50 cents per capita of population, or approximately $1,300,000. Last year's receipts were $3,763,636.

Due to the addition of 24,419 volumes during the year, the library now has a total of 1,099,711 books. Exclusive of an inventory in the main library, 15,654 books were lost as a result of the carelessness or dishonesty of patrons. Records show that 7,472,768 books were withdrawn by 423,164 patrons for home reading, an average of 24,501 volumes a day.

THE CHILDREN AND GEORGE WASHINGTON

More Entries in the Race for $11,650 in The Tribune's Prizes for School Children and Teachers.

Here are more of the essays by boys and girls entered in the George Washington prize contest being conducted by The Tribune. The contest closes on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22.

Always a Gentleman.

France's Napoleon was an autocrat, Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm a plutocrat, and America's George Washington an aristocrat.

Born to the purple, the son of a wealthy Virginian planter, and reared in ease and luxury, he had the good sense to profit by the society in which his family moved, as is shown by his hundred maxims of conduct, which he composed at the age of 13. Notwithstanding his early training, he responded to the call of leadership, involving the hardships of war, thereby a willing sacrifice. In his hands rested the destinies of a nation. His hardships bought its safety.

As a youth he was straightforward, truthful, and dauntless; as a man he was fearless, yet at all times a gentleman; as a general he was firm, courageous, and resourceful; as a President a man of convictions, a statesman, and an advocate of equality for all.

He stands as an example for the youth of today; his ideals lofty, his morals high, and his faith in an all-wise Providence supreme. This is a man for the ages; the first general, the first President, and the father of our nation.

In Our Time of Need.
To the spirit of that knight of princely courage, that ardent follower of the welfare of his nation, America proffers her eternal remembrance and loving regard and murmurs thanks to the Father of All for sending him in our time of need.

As Greece has her Marco Bozaris, Scotland the Bruce, and Italy her Giuseppe Garibaldi, so America is proud to claim her George Washington.

Yesterday we were caught in the horrible whirlpool of destruction that men have come to call war. Today we have just emerged and are standing baffled as to which path to take into tomorrow. On the one hand lie the goodly lands of truth, of brotherly love, of international cooperation. On the other we behold the dark country of deceit, of greed, and thirst for fleeting power, a journey through which entails more confusion, more strife, more war. Whither shall we go?

Is not our need today a leader, a man of inherent nobility and strength of character, who loves his country with a passion as great and true as that of Washington? Our need is of one who has our full confidence and admiration, to guide us on in the way of justice, order, law, and peace. Let us pray God that he shall call forth a hero with the glorious spirit of our well-beloved Washington, the father of his country.

ADVERSITY CAN'T DIM COURTESY OF GIRL; WINS $100

Retains Cheerful Manner Despite Misfortune.

When your mother is lying in St. Luke's hospital with a hip broken just a month ago and doctors are disagreeing whether or not she will ever walk again; when bills for treatment and nurses are piling up, as well as those for the necessities of life; when everything appears to be tinged with a dull ultramarine—it's pretty hard to be polite and cheerful and smile and answer pestiferous questions and go to a lot of trouble for the questioner. That's what Miss Mary L. Doyle has done.

But the politeness raconteur is getting ahead of his story. Hear first how the others didn't win the prize.

For a couple of hours the courtesy detective tried to give away the money in the offices of the federal building. Not that employees scattered throughout the building were peevish or annoyed—far from it. But they returned the information to his requests with such lightning rapidity and definiteness that the business was settled in half a minute, and the sleuth couldn't think up foolish questions fast enough.

How about the smooth haired good-genes who take your dough and regard you slooily in their glass surrounded thrones at the entrance of the cinema? Cashiers Can't Be Bothered.

MARY L. DOYLE.

Picking out a movie show adorned with posters of alluring promise, he questioned the cashier regarding the length of the show.

"Blurb-blurb." (That wasn't what she said; it only sounded like that. The glass inclosure cut off her voice.) "How long?" Another incoherent response. The sleuth's face showed that he didn't understand yet.

"An hour, I told you," the cashier fired back. There was no mistaking it the third time, nor the fact that she was "hot up" over the repetitions.

Now, here must be related the incident of the runner-up, who would have won the prize if Miss Doyle hadn't been found. He is Arthur G. Brooker, and works in a steamship office. The reporter was contemplating a month's trip to the jolly West Indies, and hot for the Spanish Main, next month.

Mr. Brooker produced reams of literature, maps, pointed out places of interest, gave sailing dates at length; took the voyager's name and address; gave suggestions, and wrote out instructions to visit another office and see a diagram of the boat's interior, all with a suave, courteous demeanor. Come again, he said. Happy to have seen you. Unfortunately, there was only one prize.

Meet Miss Doyle.

Must find the studio of Malcolm Anthony Jennings, commercial artist. The Republic building, at State and Adams streets, ought to be a good place to look.

The building has no directory on its walls as do other loop office buildings. Instead, in a semi-circular inclosure in the lobby sits Miss Mary L. Doyle, with a card index, out of which she directs the stranger.

She knows, after three years, everybody in the building. And so, when the detective demanded Mr. Jennings' location, she said at once, "Why, I'm quite sure he isn't here."

"No! I'm positive he is," the sleuth returned. Miss Doyle went through the "J's" very carefully. Again she shook her head. The inquirer was still unconvinced. Miss Doyle, although her little paragon was surrounded by others seeking information, called the office of the building. The same answer—he isn't here. She suggested a firm on the nineteenth floor—he might have office space there.

Can't Believe Her Fortune.

"Is there anything else I can do for you?" she asked as the detective was making for the door after a cruise to the top floor. "Sorry you can't find him," sufficed by a smile.

Later, the building was emptying itself when the sleuth returned and apprised Miss Doyle of her fortune. She, as are all other courtesy prize winners, was incredulous. The documents—and conviction. Tears welled into her eyes. She told the story of her mother's mishap and how lonely she is at her little flat at 441 Belmont avenue.

"I haven't been very polite lately," she said. Which, of course, was not true, as was smilingly denied by numbers of office workers passing by to whom she told her "luck."

Bank Sues for Failure to Receive Rumanian 'Lei'

Przeclpe was filed in a suit for $2,000 against the brokerage firm of Kardos & Burke, 305 South La Salle street, yesterday by attorneys for the Public State bank. According to the attorneys, the suit is based on losses sustained by the bank as the result of a purchase made by them of Rumanian "lei" from the brokers and which the brokers subsequently declared themselves unwilling or unable to deliver.

Mr. Mantell Launches the Curse of Rome

BY SHEPPARD OUTLER.

THE years have not greatly diminished Robert Bruce Mantell's following in the theater. His admirers are a devoted band, and there were both numbers and enthusiasm in the audience which gathered at the Olympic last evening to hear him again in the stately grandiloquence of Bulwer Lytton's old play, "Richelieu."

Mantell's Cardinal is a mellow characterization, built up out of a wealth of impressive detail—significant looks, eloquent pauses, grim humor, and a persuasive atmosphere of sinister intrigue. Much of the old fire, too, remains, in his delivery of the loftier passages, such as that wherein he defies his King and launches the curse of Rome at the millions who would take from him his ward, the lovely Julie de Mortemar.

A compelling scene, this venerable stand-by of the players; not many dramatists have written its equal.

Certain advancing infirmities sit well upon the character of the ageing minister of France and rather disarm any criticism that might be ventured, since the actor is well beloved for his long and honorable service. It shall only be said, therefore, that he carries the performance virtually alone; that his company is more willing than capable, and that his leading woman, Miss Genevieve Hamper, is beguiling rather to the eye than to the ear.

Tonight: "The Merchant of Venice."

Harry Lauder Again

BY GUY LEE.

Sir Harry Lauder is back in town, being the successor of the more or less great Southern at the more or less Great Northern.

The Scotch comedian, still facially the twin of Commodore Bob Doran, opened last night to a house crowded from orchestra pit to gallery. As the official Lauder reviewer, I have seen him half a dozen times. He is better than ever. He jollies his fans as of yore, neighbors them and makes them sing with him, although their effort in this respect is, as he himself remarks, "splendid but weak."

Sir Harry has several new songs and two new jokes. One relates the return of a Scotch soldier to the front from a visit to Paris. "Who are you?" challenges the sentry. "I'm the end of a perfect day," the soldier replies. The other is where Harry says he is stopping with a friend. "There is a difference," he says, "between stopping with a friend and stopping with a relative. When you stop with a friend it costs you nothing."

"I know a Lassie Out in O-H-I-O" and "Over the Hill to Ardentiny" are lyrics I hadn't heard. They have the Lauder swing and sentiment.

COPPER SUBDUES FOURTH GUNMAN WITH RIGHT HOOK

The cool daring and the formidable right fist of Sergt. Walter Bierndt of the Warren avenue station have won him a reputation in the law enforcement circles. The reporter was contemplating a month's trip to the jolly West Indies, and hot for the Spanish Main, next month.

Mr. Brooker produced reams of literature, maps, pointed out places of interest, gave sailing dates at length; took the voyager's name and address; gave suggestions, and wrote out instructions to visit another office and see a diagram of the boat's interior, all with a suave, courteous demeanor. IT TOOK YEARS AND YEARS, BUT HE CAUGHT HER

She Couldn't Get Over the Desire for Fish.

It was a few years ago, when, as all Darwinians will recollect, Mr. Lindgreen was a tadpole and Miss Krumbach a fish, that they first met. In social circles in the depths of the Cambrian fen the affair attracted but casual attention. Mr. Lindgreen would sometimes see her home at night, maybe, occasionally send her a box of zoids, but that was all. Pals, just good pals—so the gossip said.

Well, you know time. It passed. The hot lands heaved again, Mr. Lindgreen forsook the wets for the dries, leaved a jungle tree, and settled down to rear a family of missing links. Now the soul of the head of a family is supposed to be dead to romance. But did M. Link forget the Cambrian flapper?

They Called Him Queer.

Go on with the story and let indicate the lapse of several years: One of the immemorial customs of the troglodytes was to skulk in the cave during the daylight hours and venture out at night in search of fresh meat. Maybe a stray dinosaur or pterodactyl. But Mr. Lindgreen proved to be a sun dodger as well as a moon dodger. He would never leave the hole in the cliff. He would just sit there and mope. The other troglodytes kidded him without avail for being a queer guy. He was moping for the Cambrian flapper. We'll have to hurry. The stone, iron, and bronze ages passed. Cheops built the pyramids. Alexander conquered the world. Death conquered Alexander. Greece fell. Antony fell—Cleopatra. Rome went blooey. Men discovered gunpowder. Women discovered rouge. Columbus discovered America. And, about fifty years ago, Mr. Lindgreen discovered Chicago.

Ah, the Memory Lingers.

Which brings us to his tinshop at 1047 West Chicago avenue, in the rear of which Mr. Lindgreen maintains his bachelor apartments. You see, he hadn't forgotten that Paleozoic tale, "when they skittered with many a caudal flip through the depths of the Cambrian fen, and his heart was rife with the joy of life, for he loved her even then."

All things come to him who waits. It was Sunday evening. Mr. Lindgreen was returning from church. She smiled at him. Even then he didn't suspect. It was when they had arrived at the apartment and Mr. Lindgreen's phonograph had concluded "I Hear You Calling Me."

"What shall we have for lunch?" asked Mr. Lindgreen.

"Fish," she answered. "I'm wild about it."

"Fish," echoed Mr. Lindgreen, and only a Darwinian can say to what remote prehistoric day his memory harked back. The association of ideas is baffling, and anyway the young lady's name was Alice Krumbach, and she was a flapper.

The Plot Thickens.

Well, the evening passed. It was after she had departed that he remembered he hadn't obtained her home address. He ran out into the night. She had disappeared. He searched the neighborhood all the next day. Futile. Nightfall found him waiting for an elevated train at the Oak street station.

The first person who left the train was Miss Krumbach, who is a waitress at Swift & Co.'s luncheon and lives at 160 West Oak street. Mr. Lindgreen ran toward her, seized her, and cried:

"I've found you. You can't get away this time."

"Who," she asked, icily, "are you?"

"I'm Lindgreen, the fishsmith, the bird who copped two diamond sticks and a $500 watch from, and this gent with me is a policeman."

FORMER NURSE PLANS NEW SUIT AGAINST DOCTOR

Judge Hugo Pam, in the Superior Court, will be asked this morning to set an early date for the rehearing of the $25,000 "kiss" suit of Miss Matilde Benhardt, former student nurse of the German Deaconess hospital, against Dr. Justin L. Mitchell, staff physician of the institution.

At the first trial the jury stood 10 to 2 for conviction, but could not agree as to the amount of damages to be assessed, and so disagreed.

Miss Benhardt accused the physician of forcing his attentions upon her in the nursery at the hospital, and declared she was refused a diploma when she reported Dr. Mitchell's attack.

THE VENGEANCE OF HENRY JARROMAN

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Henry Jarroman, released from prison twenty years before for the murder of Charles Eddis, learns that John Camden, his one time friend, who stole his wife, killed Eddis, and faucens for the crime on him, is dead. He has now his embittered Camden all the long years in prison and now his embittered heart bids him make Camden's daughter a victim in place of her father.

Camden's daughter, who believes her name to be Nadia Quest, is employed as a typist by the Hon. Wilfred Stranack. He loves her and asks her to marry him. Lord Doucester, Stranack's father, is startled when he recognizes a ring Nadia wears and knows who she is.

Claudine Crayne, the wife who dishonored and deserted Jarroman and their young daughter, is the proprietor of a smart gambling establishment. Theed, Jarroman's rascally solicitor, visits her and tells her Jarroman desires to find his daughter. They conspire to substitute Nadia for the real daughter, with the idea of getting Jarroman's fortune for themselves.

Theed brings Nadia and Jarroman together. Jarroman, too, recognizes Camden's ring and knows that Nadia is not his daughter, but Camden's. He rejoices that the victim of his hate is delivered into his hands.

task to trace a person who has not been heard of for twenty years.

"O, quite so!" said Jarroman. "I have not come to hurry you, I assure you. As a matter of fact, I want you to widen your investigations for me—and there is no hurry of any kind."

"Widen them—in what direction?" demanded Segrove. "As you get on the track of John Camden's daughter," began Jarroman, "you will probably find out a good deal about John Camden himself. And I have a special interest in John Camden."

"But interest?" demanded Segrove. "John Camden committed the crime of which I was convicted."

"It's a long story," Jarroman added. "I propose to dictate to my typist and send you the detailed report, which will supplement news cuttings of the report of my trial. This will reach you in a few days. In the meantime there's a man called Bluest who was given five years penal servitude for forgery within a year of my own conviction. I don't know his whereabouts; I don't even know if he's alive. If you can find him he can give you material facts which will dovetail with the report I shall send you. Are you willing to take it on, Mr. Segrove?"

"I don't know yet," answered Segrove. "This man Camden is dead, I understood you to say. What is your object in investigating the matter—is it a re-trial?"

"Not necessarily so," replied Jarroman. "I might seek a re-trial, but probably should not. The publicity might injure my daughter. But I have conceived a desire to be placed in possession of legal proof of my innocence—if such a thing is possible."

"It may be possible," said Segrove. "That I cannot say. It was certainly a difficult indeed. It is quite probable that you will throw away a lot of money and attain nothing."

"I am quite content to risk that," replied Jarroman. "If you would like, a payment on account."

"That's not necessary, thank you," replied Segrove. "I shall send you a monthly account. I haven't decided to take the case up yet. If you believe that John Camden did you this colossal injury what do you want to find his daughter for?"

"In twenty years in prison, Mr. Segrove," said Jarroman, "one conceives ideas which may be regarded as odd. To use an old fashioned phrase, I wish to return good for evil."

Jarroman met the detective's shrewd gaze unflinchingly. "Well, I suppose your motives are no concern of mine," said Segrove enigmatically. "Suppose I should run across this girl, what do you want me to do with her?"

"Just notify me of her address," Jarroman replied. "I'll take the case," said Segrove indifferently. "This sort of thing is my profession, and if I come to the conclusion that there is no reasonable prospect of success I shall withdraw."

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

Where Asked.

At the Art Institute.

Miss Veneta Harman, 3631 Janssen avenue, telephone operator—I think a woman should touch up her hair if it turns gray before her time. Gray hair is not becoming to young women. But a man should leave his hair just as it is. Gray hair is very becoming to most men.

Thomas S. Waller, 1509 East 57th street, captain of the guards, Art Institute—I do not believe in dyeing the hair. When the hair changes color, the complexion takes on a certain hue to correspond with the hair. And I understand that dyeing is harmful to the skin. At any rate, the use of any dye gives a false impression of the individual.

Miss Josephine E. Koeller, 1905 South Michigan avenue, bookkeeper—I do not add anything to my hair. I am a young woman, and no artist ever paints youth with gray locks. It seems to me any woman is justified in assisting nature in restoring her youthful tint to her hair. But when a woman reaches the age where gray hair is becoming she should let nature follow its own tendency.

Gustav Steiner, 1143 Waveland avenue, real estate—A young man who is prematurely gray is handicapped when seeking employment. If the employer meets a young man, he is too liable to misjudge the age and capacity of the applicant if his hair shows any gray and hesitates about employing him. For that reason, if this same person had dyed his hair, he would have had a better chance to secure the position.

Miss Estelle Sakel, 1604 West 17th street, stenographer—I believe in leaving the hair its natural color, because, if you once start dyeing it you always have to keep it up. If you start fooling your friends, they are liable to get wise to it some time, and that would be embarrassing. If a woman shouldn't, a man shouldn't. But I should worry; gray hair doesn't run in our family. Mine is blonde.

George Bessard, 1909 Roosevelt road, died in the West Side hospital yesterday of injuries suffered in a fall from his wagon.

MISS JENKINS IDENTIFIED NICHOLS' BODY AT THE MORGUE YESTERDAY.

Charges of brutality by police in obtaining confessions from suspects are to be thoroughly aired by Chief Justice Kieckhafer Scanlon of the Criminal Court. He has asked all attorneys who have complaints that their clients have been mistreated to be present at a hearing Saturday.

Inhuman methods have been charged to the police on numerous occasions. Yesterday Attorney James E. McShane appeared in behalf of William G. Smith, arrested in connection with bomb outrages by union men.

Smith, according to McShane, has become insane as a result of his treatment by the police and will not be able to stand trial.

Chief of Police Fitzmorris and Assistant Corporation Counsel James W. Green were at the hearing and emphatically denied the charges.

Arrest Husband of Woman Who Leaped Into River

Samuel Adams, husband of Josephine Adams, who was rescued after she leaped into the river from the Halsted street bridge, was arrested following a story of nonsupport and cruelty told at the psychopathic hospital by his wife. His case was continued yesterday, pending the result of his wife's condition.

Two Drink Moonshine; Now Two Men Are Dead

Walter Stapeczny, 28 years old, owner of a saloon at 1446 Cleaver street, and Michael Pybarszyk, 53 years old, 1321 Julian street, a teamster employed by the Pelonia Coal company, Elston avenue and Division street, drank moonshine Sunday. Both are dead.

FIND ETTELSON IGNORED LAW IN RICKARD PERMIT

Aldermen Hear Amended Statute Applies.

A Lundin-Thompson alderman demonstrated to the council judiciary committee yesterday that the city's Lundin-Thompson law department overreached itself in its anxiety to give Tex Rickard a permit to show his Dempsey-Carpenter fight pictures in Chicago.

Last November a corporation Counsel Ettelson and two of his assistants signed an opinion declaring invalid that part of the city's motion picture censorship ordinance which prohibits any picture which portrays "any riotous, disorderly, or other unlawful scene or has a tendency to disrupt the peace."

Former Partners Interested.

That was when Mr. Ettelson was furnishing Chief Fitzmorris with authority to issue the Dempsey-Carpenter permit. Rickard previously had applied to Schuyler & Weinfield, formerly Mr. Ettelson's law partners, for aid in getting the permit.

The opinion held that the ordinance was broader than the state law on censorship, from which the aldermen derive their power to act. The law, Mr. Ettelson told Chief Fitzmorris, only permits the council to prohibit pictures which are "immoral or obscene."

The language of the state law is almost identical with the language of the city ordinance. Ald. R. R. Jackson of the Second ward told the committee, "I know, for I introduced the amendment which made the state law conform to the ordinance."

Amendment Five Years Old.

Though the amendment was passed five years ago, Mr. Ettelson did not know of it last November. At least, he said nothing about it. It was on the theory that the Jackson amendment was not in effect that Chief Fitzmorris gave the permit for the championship fight films.

The Jackson amendment forbids pictures which "hold up to scorn or ridicule any nation or the people thereof, or portrays riotous, disorderly, or unlawful scenes or has a tendency to disturb the public peace."

GIRL IDENTIFIES MAN IN SUICIDE PACT AS FIANCE

Police delving into the strange double suicide of Alfred A. Nichols and Mrs. Ursula Rogers, former Kennelworth society girl yesterday found another woman who could shed much light on the dead man's career.

She is Miss Kitty Jackson, who lives in 700 block on North Dearborn parkway. She met Nichols at a dance a month ago.

URSULA ROGERS AGED, she says, (White Photo.) and later they became engaged. Then he borrowed $200 from her and tried to give her morphine in payment. They disappeared.

Miss Jackson identified Nichols' body at the morgue yesterday. Coroner Hoffman investigated the possibility that the dead man was another woman who could shed much light on the dead man's career.

INQUIRY ORDERED INTO CHARGES OF POLICE CRUELTY

Charges of brutality by police in obtaining confessions from suspects are to be thoroughly aired by Chief Justice Kieckhafer Scanlon of the Criminal Court. He has asked all attorneys who have complaints that their clients have been mistreated to be present at a hearing Saturday.

INDEX NUMBERS REVEAL PRICES NEAR STABILITY

BY O. A. MATHER.

Evidence that wholesale commodity prices in this country have about reached a condition of at least temporary stability is contained in the "index" numbers compiled by authoritative agencies.

The federal reserve board's index number, compiled on the basis of international commodities, shows that prices in December declined 2 points. Using prices in 1913 as a basis and that year's index number as 100, the prices of commodities imported last month rose 3 points, but prices of goods exported fell 1 point.

All groups of raw materials, except cotton, have advanced. Wholesale prices now average only 35 per cent above the pre-war level, whereas a year ago they were 73 per cent higher.

Based on 90 commodities.

In January, 1922, the index number dropped 10 points, which compares with successive declines of only 2 points or less in the preceding week. The reserve board uses 90 representative commodities, weighted according to importance, in compiling its index number.

Thus far this month R. G. Dun & Co. reports a stiffening of wholesale prices. "Despite some yielding in a number of important articles," the analysis says, "wholesale commodity prices continue in an upward direction," the analysis says. "Sixty-three advances and thirty-three declines appeared last week in a comprehensive list of quotations. A similar comparison for the preceding week disclosed 42 increases and 35 reductions, whereas 58 of the 94 changes recorded in last week of last year were recessions."

New Financing Due.
This week is expected to witness a large amount of new financing. Yesterday a total of nearly $50,000,000 of new issues was offered and readily marketed. The largest issue consisted of $25,000,000 of department of the Seine, France, twenty year 7 per cent external gold bonds at 90.

Other offerings included the following: $10,000,000 Pacific Gas and Electric company twenty year first refunding noncallable series "B" 6 per cent bonds; $7,330,000 Pacific States Lumber 8 per cent bonds, and $3,600,000 city of Porto Alegre, Brazil, 8 per cent bonds.

A one year loan of $5,000,000 has been made to the republic of Cuba by New York banks, but no public offering is planned.

Additional sales of $5,667,000 Chesapeake and Ohio railroad new securities was announced by the railroad administration.

Montgomery Ward & Co. Stock.
Disolution of a banking syndicate which had purchased 200,000 shares of Montgomery Ward & Co., the Chicago mail order house, was announced yesterday. The stock was delivered to the participants more than a week ago, but none apparently has been thrown on the market, as the price has showed firmness.

The original syndicate which purchased 50,000 shares at the time of the company's reorganization in 1919 will be dissolved next week and about 170,000 shares will be distributed among the participants.

Pacific States Lumber.

R. G. G. Co. Pacific States Lumber company (formerly Coos Bay Lumber company) is issuing $7,330,000 of 8 per cent bonds, secured by a first mortgage on timber lands and timber, given a valuation of about $15,000,000, and on other property with an approximate depreciated value of over $5,000,000. The property mortgaged is thus over three and one-half times this issue. Net earnings for the last five years, after taxes, but before depreciation, have averaged $1,125,000, or over 1.3 times maximum interest charges on these bonds. Beginning Jan. 1, 1922, a sinking fund provides for the deposit of $137 per 1,000 of timber cut. There are four maturities and the bonds are payable at maturity on Jan. 1, 1927, at 102½; 1932 at 105; 1937 at 107½, and 1942 at 110. They are redeemable in part or as a whole at the price designated for the payment of each respective series. The bonds are well secured and offer an attractive investment for a business man's spare funds.

PROFIT TAKING ON EARLY BULGE WEAKENS WHEAT

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Realizing sales in wheat, following a bulge of 1/4c over Saturday's finish, proved too much for the market, and, while sentiment remains distinctly bullish, the close was at net losses of 1/4c, with May showing the most strength. Corn held within a range of 1/4c, being firm early with wheat, only to close easy with prices unchanged to 1/4c lower, while oats were strong throughout the day and unchanged to 1/4c higher at the last. Rye was 1/4c lower.

Continued buying of May wheat by strong commission houses, partly to close spreads, absorbed the offerings in the pit early and the May-July spread widened to 13c at the last, the greatest difference so far. At the high May was up 1/4c over the low of last week, and the market had been on the upgrade for eleven days.

Corn Market Depressed. Spreading operations between corn and oats had a depressing effect on the former grain, but there was a good class of buying at times and the undertone was not weak, although the close was at the low point.

The seaboard outbid Chicago in the interior for cash corn, but the advance in hogs to around 9c is causing lighter offers of corn in some sections of the west.

May oats gained fractionally on May corn, closing at 14c discount, against 14c on Saturday.

Provisions Go Higher. Provisions advanced to a new high on the present upturn, the nearby deliveries of lard getting close to the 10c level. Shorts bought January lard early, but realizing sales had a depressing effect and the close was at the low point with net gains of 10c 1/4c, while ribs gained 20c 1/4c. Strength in hogs and small receipts had a bullish effect. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

The constructive side of the grain market is regarded with more favor by a majority of leading traders, as much of the news runs to the effect that the market is expected to be in time as a result of pit conditions, as all markets are likely to become overbought or oversold at times, but the trend of values is regarded as irregularly upward. The break of 2c in wheat from the top after an advance for several days was due to profit taking by a number of large local traders who remain friendly to the buying side but who were tempted to take profits. It put the market in better condition, as they are in shape to take their lines back on any further dip.

Spreading between corn and oats is becoming more popular and prices of the two grains worked closer together yesterday. A leader trade was in on oats and on the advance they met selling by elevator interests who were buying July and selling May at 54c in difference. Cash oats sold at wider discounts under May, although the eastern demand was better. Corn and last corn heavy oats are less plentiful and command good premiums.

There were 3,338 cars of grain on track in Chicago yesterday, against 3,002 cars a week ago. Total arrivals for the day were 1,478 cars. At elevators 1,233 cars are held outside for inspection and disposition 2,165 cars.

With the export demand for wheat continuing largely to Manitoba and stocks decreasing, cash premiums at Winnipeg are expected to hold strong, said H. B. Bland of Winnipeg, who was here yesterday. "Stocks of bonded wheat in the United States are decreasing steadily, and the market is getting into a strong position, especially for July. Bonded wheat at Buffalo is going to mills and the market indications are for an all-round movement from Winnipeg into the states for milling, as choice spring wheat is scarce in the northwest and can only be had in Canada. All indications are for the maintenance of good prices."

Prospects for higher prices for hard are regarded as favorable by Harry L. Reun with Jackson Bros. & Co. Hops have advanced to over $9, when $6 was expected to be high some time ago, and stocks are light.

Reports to J. E. Bennett & Co. from their Illinois offices indicated that the advance in soy prices was having the effect of causing farmers to hold back corn, and where raising corn to sell at 50c had been given there have been general cancellations.

Wichita, Kas., received 350 cars of wheat last week, compared with 244 cars the previous week, indicating that farmers had taken advantage of the recent advance in prices and the lowering of freight rates to sell more freely. At Enid, Okla., mills were paying a good premium over May for No. 2 hard which is getting scarce.

FLOUR PRICES HIGHER. Flour prices have advanced 2 1/2c the last two days. Minneapolis millers are asking $5.30 for the best brands to the retail trade and $7.45 for car lots. Trade is mainly in small lots.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Fresh egg prices advanced 3/4c for firsts to 38c yesterday, due to colder weather and the lack of arrivals of 14,000 cases, against 8,000 cases last year. Butter prices advanced for all grades.

MILEAGE GUARANTEE
ABOLISHED BY RUBBER
MANUFACTURERS.

Sweeping Action Ends Drain on Tire Industry.

Millions of tires have been replaced by the tire manufacturers every year on the basis of the mileage guarantee. This practice has now been turned over to the tire manufacturers and the tire industry is now free to compete on a basis of quality and price. The tire industry is now free to compete on a basis of quality and price. The tire industry is now free to compete on a basis of quality and price.

Take your "tire" and investigate this business at once. You will never regret it. School is open both day and evening.

NEWS OF THE DAY THROUGH THE EYE OF THE CAMERA

HE KEPT CHICAGO WET. But he almost lost his life doing it. Twenty-nine years ago on Jan. 21 the intake at Chicago's only pumping plant, the two mile crib, became clogged with ice. John Scully donned a diving suit, was lowered into the freezing water, broke the jam, and kept the city's people from going thirsty. But the rushing water sucked him into the intake. His helpers pumped air to him for two hours in what they thought a vain hope to save his life. But he lived to point out the scene of the accident yesterday.

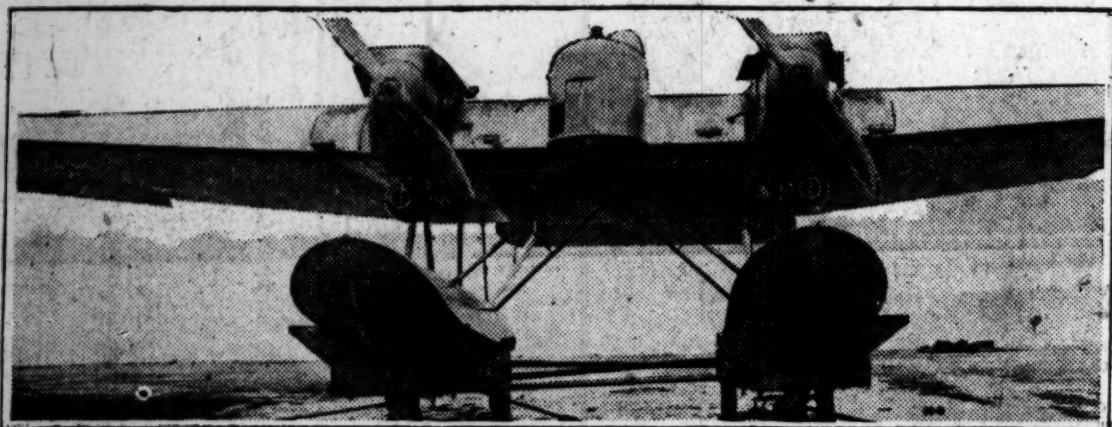

FRENCH BEAUTY. Mme. Yvonne de Barro of Biarritz is one of the many prominent visitors from foreign lands who are enjoying the warm climate of Palm Beach. "I know of no wintering place to compare with this one," she declares.

HOW POPE IS LYING IN STATE. From the death chamber the body, dressed for burial, is carried by the Noble guard of the Vatican into the throneroom and there placed on an inclined bed, to remain in state for a day. The photograph of the body of Pope Pius X., shows exactly how the body of Pope Benedict lay, in mitre and full canonicals, with purple gloves on the hands, which hold a small crucifix. The fisherman's ring has been taken from the hand and the stone in it destroyed. It will be set with another stone and worn by his successor.

AIR DEATH AND DESTRUCTION. This new type of Curtiss amphibian is pronounced the most deadly heavier than air machine ever flown. It carries both bombs and torpedoes and can attack cities and land fortifications or battleships. The plane has just been received for testing at the Washington naval station. Four great torpedoes are shown, two under each wing just above the pontoon.

ARMY MASCOT SAVED. Immigration authorities can't deport Harry Valentine, Belgian mascot of the 1st division, U. S. A., now. W. R. Earl, a Brooklyn, N. Y., war veteran, has adopted him.

NEW FRIENDS OF OPERA OFFICERS. They were elected at the rousing annual meeting yesterday. From left to right they are Mrs. Jacob Baur, member of the executive committee and chairman of the membership committee; Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, honorary chairman; Mrs. Arthur Ryerson, vice chairman, and Mrs. Arthur Meeker, chairman. "Work with might and main to secure the necessary guarantors in the next sixty days," Samuel Insull urged the members.

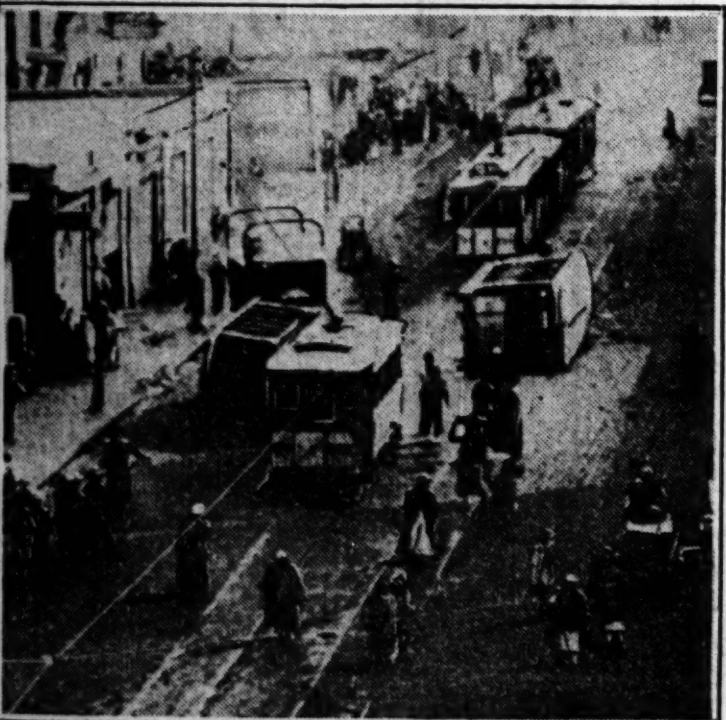

IT'S DIFFERENT NOW. Mrs. Vesta Braun gave her husband, George P. Braun, her power of attorney when they had been married only ten days and her love for him was at its "nth" power. Yesterday, four years later, in Judge McDonald's court, she contested his right to sell their home, 1221 Astor street. Judge McDonald ruled she could stay there.

BOWED BY SORROW. Baroness Rosen, widow of the Baron Rosen, former Russian ambassador to the United States, who was fatally injured by a taxicab.

JAPAN REGENT INSPECTS TROOPS. Crown Prince Hirohito, now regent of the Japanese empire, directed his troops in a recent sham attack on the city of Tokio. He is shown on his favorite charger, Asakasa.

RIOTING IN CAIRO. Street cars were overturned, buildings set on fire, stores raided, and pitched battles were fought in the recent trouble caused by the order of Lord Allenby expelling Zogel Pasha from Cairo. Egyptian police and firemen had to ask British troops for protection.

NEW BAHAI LEADER. Shogi Rabbini, Effendi, at Haifa, Palestine, who succeeds his grandfather, the late Abdul Baha. A Bahai temple is being erected in Wilmette.

TRIBUTE TO ROBERT E. LEE. Miss Edna Wells of Washington, D. C., laying a wreath at the foot of the statue of the famous southern general in statuary hall at the conclusion of exercises held in commemoration of his birthday by the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Miss Wells is surrounded by sons and daughters of members of the chapter.

TO ANCIENT EGYPT went Lewis of Paris in search of the unusual for this spring hat. A truly royal looking scarab adorns its soft straw, draped in folds of alternating beige and dull blue.

WORLD'S HANDSOMEST MAN. That's what Joseph Shidkrait, Austrian movie actor, is called. His mother attributes his beauty to prenatal influences, keeping beautiful objects about her.

WIRELESS SONG FOR A KING. Mme. Yvonne Printemps, noted French opera star, singing into the wireless telephone in Eiffel tower for King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, listening in Brussels. Watching the experiment are M. Nete, another opera star, and M. M. Guller.
